Introduction
Message from the WWSF President, Convener of the 19 Days Campaign

The 19 Days Campaign supports the emergence of a global culture for prevention of violence against children and youth, and supports the realization of the relevant Sustainable Development Goals - Agenda 2030 and in particular SDG Target 16.2

June 2018

Dear Partners and Friends,

We are happy to share with you the 2018 edition of the WWSF annual campaign Kit “19 Days of Activism for the prevention of violence against children and youth 1-19 November”, one of our three annual initiatives to help transform our world.

Before introducing you to our regular Call to Action and the 2018 main theme «Ending Corporal Punishment», we wish to acknowledge the 318 organizations and campaign partners from around the world that registered their programs and events with WWSF online in 2017. We are inspired by their reports, published in our annual Global Impact Report online www.woman.ch and we hope you will remain an active member in 2018.

The highlight of participation in 2017 came again from the Polish Foundation “Po DRUGIE”, an NGO, which mobilized alone 262 campaign partners, institutions and associated members into action for the 19 Days campaign and the World Day 19 November. This example is a game changer and an inspiration to all about how we can mobilize citizens to become informed actors for ending violence and abuse against children and youth. In 2017, two coalition member organizations received our 19 Days Innovation Prize, also published online, and a brief description can be found in the 2018 Prevention Kit on Page 78.

For 2018, we have made a few changes in the Prevention Kit by including in the section «General Ideas for Action», a new section «Ideas for Faith-based leaders and communities» to continue to expand participation in ending violence against children. We need to increase action and compassion in all communities to reach our collective Sustainable Development Goal by 2030 - Target #16.2 «End abuse, exploitation, trafficking and all forms of violence against and torture of children by 2030». The SDGs targets challenge us to prepare our advocacy and ideas for actions around this Agenda and also to hold world leaders accountable for robust implementation and necessary financing.

We invite you, your family and networks to consider marking 2 November «World Day for Circles of Compassion», by creating a community circle with your family, friends and colleagues to discuss and implement strong violence prevention measures against children and youth and deliver on their right to safety and dignity. With your regular and annual programs of action and by including young people and faith-based leaders in your events, we can scale up civil society participation in transforming communities and nations.

We thank you in advance for registering your activities online on our website, and wish you great success with all your plans. Once we have received your registration and program, we will make available to you our 2018 Media and Advocacy pack, a 19 Days PowerPoint presentation, various logos, brochures, including the 19 November + 20 November poster.

We are grateful for the financial support received to continue our outreach for transformative action. Last but not least, we thank all our faithful volunteers, university interns and in particular Lubna Allam and Deborah Marolf who helped with research and producing the 2018 Campaign Kit.

We look forward to hearing from you and remain in a spirit of partnership and solidarity.

Elly Pradervand, WWSF President/CEO and United Nations Representative

WWSF motto: Regularly reminding ourselves that our annual campaign Kits, Prize awards, World days and empowerment programs only make sense if local community partners make use of them and create change in the lives of the abused and marginalized, realizing that they are the real actors of transformation in their communities. Together we shall achieve what no one can do alone!

In 2015, the 193 UN Member States adopted and launched a new set of Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs) at the UN General Assembly (25-27 September) in New York. The SDGs are key in creating on an international scale a new context for a more sustainable world. This Agenda is a plan of action for people, planet and prosperity. It also seeks to strengthen universal peace in larger freedom. All countries and all stakeholders, acting in collaborative partnership, will implement this Agenda. The 17 Sustainable Development Goals and 169 targets demonstrate the scale and ambition of this new universal Plan. They build on the Millennium Development Goals and complete what was not achieved. They seek to realize the human rights of all and achieve gender equality and the empowerment of all women and girls. They are integrated and indivisible and balance the three dimensions of sustainable development: the economic, social and environmental. The Goals and targets will stimulate action over the next 15 years in areas of critical importance for humanity and the planet.

Details of all 17 SDGs and targets can be found at http://www.un.org/sustainabledevelopment/sustainable-development-goals/.

By 2030: End Poverty in all its forms everywhere
http://www.un.org/sustainabledevelopment/poverty/

By 2030: End Hunger, Achieve Food Security and Improved Nutrition & Promote Sustainable Agriculture http://www.un.org/sustainabledevelopment/hunger/

By 2030: Ensure Healthy Lives and Promote Well-being for all to all Ages http://www.un.org/sustainabledevelopment/health/

By 2030: Ensure Inclusive & Equitable Quality Education and Promote Lifelong Learning Opportunities for all http://www.un.org/sustainabledevelopment/education/

By 2030: Achieve Gender Equality and Empower all Women and Girls

By 2030: Ensure Availability and Sustainable Management of Water and Sanitation for All

By 2030: Promote Sustained, Inclusive, and Sustainable Economic Growth, Full and Productive Employment and Decent Work for All

By 2030: Promote Peaceful and Inclusive Societies for Sustainable Development, Provide Access to Justice for all and Build Inclusive Institutions at all levels

SDG TARGET 16.2: «End violence, exploitation, trafficking and all forms of violence and torture against children»
SDG Goal 16.2: End abuse, exploitation, trafficking and all forms of violence against and torture of children and other relevant SDG Goals and Targets

Our Call to Action focuses primarily on Sustainable Development Goal #16.2 which addresses violence against children with impact in various spheres of society.

Research shows that “abuse and maltreatment can lead to life-long physical and mental health problems, lower educational achievement, and can even affect a child’s brain development. Victims of violence are more likely to become future perpetrators, feeding a cycle that consumes lives.” In addition, there are large economic effects. Countries that do not address issues of violence against children end up losing significant amounts of money. Physical, psychological, and sexual violence against children can lead to life-long physical and mental health problems, lower educational achievement, and can even affect a child’s brain development. Victims of violence are more likely to become future perpetrators, feeding a cycle that consumes lives.” In addition, there are large economic effects. Countries that do not address issues of violence against children end up losing significant amounts of money.

Relevant Goals and SDG Targets for the 19 Days Campaign include:

16.2: End abuse, exploitation, trafficking, and all forms of violence against and torture of children

5.2: Eliminate all forms of violence against all women and girls in public and private spheres, including trafficking, sexual and other types of exploitation

5.3: Eliminate all harmful practices, such as child, early and forced marriage, and female genital mutilation

8.7: Elimination of the worst forms of child labor, including slavery and human trafficking recruitment and use of child soldiers, and by 2025 end child labor in all its forms.

4.a: Provide safe, non-violent, inclusive, and effective learning environments for all

4.7: Ensure that all learners acquire knowledge…(for) promotion of a culture of peace and non-violence

Reduce the impact of violence in their families and communities...

16.1: Significantly reduce all forms of violence and related death rates everywhere

16.3: Promote the rule of law at the national & international levels, and ensure equal access to justice for all

16.9: Provide legal identity for all, including birth registration

16.a: Strengthen relevant institutions… to prevent violence

2018 Call to Action Kit 19 Days of Activism for prevention of violence against children and youth 1-19 Nov.
Convener: Women’s World Summit Foundation / Children-Youth Section - wdpca@wwsf.ch - www.woman.ch
Because abuse and violence against children and youth continue to be a worldwide phenomenon, which violate children’s rights, impair their healthy development and take place in all contexts from the home to justice systems,

The Campaign aims to mobilize and encourage local and national activities for better prevention. By using the 19 Days coalition building process, we can increase solidarity and activism to create a worldwide commitment for the end of violence against children and youth by 2030.

Selected Facts and Figures from the UN and its Special Agencies

- Poor nutrition causes nearly half (45%) of death in children under 5 – 3.1 million children each year.

- By 2050 hunger and child malnutrition could increase by up to 20% as a result of climate-related disasters.

- 1 in 3 girls and 1 in 5 boys will be sexually abused before they reach the age of 18.

- 1 million children are coerced, kidnapped, sold and tricked into child prostitution or child pornography each year.

- It is estimated that up to 10 million children are victims of child sexual exploitation. 43% of victims are trafficked for the purposes of sexual exploitation, which is an illegal activity estimated to be worth between US$7 and US$19 billion a year.

- 320,000 young people between the age of 15 and 29 die from alcohol-related causes, resulting in 9% of all deaths in that age group.

- 100 million children live or work in the streets facing daily discrimination, violence and exploitation.

- 168 million children around the world are engaged in child labor. Of these, 85 million children are exposed to hazardous work that poses a danger to their health and safety.

- Only 46 States have introduced a comprehensive ban on corporal punishment.

- An estimated 13.5 million children – most of them girls – will be married before they turn 18. About 4.4 million of them will be married before they turn 15.

- In 2012, almost 1 billion children between 2 and 14 were subjected to physical punishment.

- About 140 million girls and women worldwide are currently living with the consequences of FGM.

- It is estimated that at least 1 million children are deprived of their liberty worldwide.

- As many as 150 million girls and 73 million boys worldwide are raped or subject to sexual violence each year, usually by someone in their family circle.

- Children with disabilities are 3-4 times more likely to be victims of violence.

- An estimated 250,000 children are being recruited and used by diverse armed forces/groups.

- In 2012 the International Association of Internet Hotlines received 37,404 reports of child abuse material, 76% involving prepubescent children and 9% involving very young children.

- Between 80 and 100 million girls are ‘missing’ from the world’s population – victims of gender-based infanticide, femicide, malnutrition and neglect.

- Close to 300 million children aged 2-4 worldwide experience violent discipline by their caregiver on a regular basis.
What is Activism?
Activism is taking action to affect social change, which can occur in many ways. Most often it entails action to change the world - socially, politically, economically - or by addressing human rights and/or environmental issues. Activism can be led by individuals, but is mostly done through social movements, and in the case of the 19 Days campaign, we use coalition building and civil society movements to catalyze activities and generate change in communities and nations.

What is the 19 Days Prevention Campaign?
It is a multi-issue CALL TO ORGANIZE FOR ACTION to change social behavior, educate, and mobilize diverse organizations and civil society partners – including young people – to become involved in prevention of one or more of the 19 abuse themes listed below. To help create a culture for better prevention, the end of violence against children and youth, support implementation of the UN Study recommendations, and last but not least to reach the promised 2030 Sustainable Development Goals, we must unite in collaborative action.

What are the 19 Campaign Themes?
Although other forms of abuse and violence exist, WWSF has selected the following 19 themes with the main theme for 2018 on ending Corporal punishment (pgs. 31-34)

1. Children involved in armed conflict
2. Sexual abuse (+ World Day for Circles of Compassion)
3. Bullying
4. Neglect
5. Child labor
6. Corporal punishment (main theme 2018)
7. Sale of children
8. Child prostitution
9. Child pornography
10. Child trafficking
11. Child sex tourism
12. Harmful traditional practices
13. Street children
14. Discrimination based on health conditions
15. Addiction and substance abuse
16. Malnutrition
17. Dangers of ICTs (Information and communications technology)
18. Abduction

Definition of a child
According to the Convention on the Rights of the Child (CRC), a child is “every human being below the age of 18, unless under applicable law majority is attained earlier” (Article 1).

Definition of child abuse
Child abuse includes all types of physical, emotional and sexual abuse and violence, as well as neglect, negligence and commercial or other forms of exploitation, towards children below 18 years of age. It results in actual or potential harm to the child’s health, survival, development or dignity in the context of a relationship of responsibility, trust or power. Exposure to intimate partner violence is also sometimes included as a form of child maltreatment (WHO).

What is prevention?
Prevention is key! It is about setting up guidelines and learned behavior that create obstacles to perpetrators. It is the most effective way to protect children from abuse and greatly contributes to creating a culture of non-violence. Prevention should be implemented through social and general policies, involving organizations, governments, youth and faith-based groups, families, schools and professionals. It is a fact that prevention is better and cheaper than reacting to abuse and violence. The transformation from a culture of reaction to a culture of prevention is urgently needed.

“Prevention is not only possible, it is essential. In addition to being a human rights obligation on States, violence carries huge social, economic and health costs, and drains public budgets and it is only by addressing the underlying causes of violence that these costs will be reduced. Prevention is ultimately about creating relationships, communities, and organizations that are equal, non-violent, and respectful of all individuals and where people live free from discrimination, harassment or violence that can block them from reaching their full human potential.” (UN Women interview with Lara Fergus)

The goal of prevention is to create an environment that
• Challenges social norms, which tolerate abuse and violence
• Enhances the capacity of all to build safer homes, schools, institutions, workplaces and communities for our children and youth

“While there is no doubt about the need to assist victims [of abuse and violence] and to guarantee their safety, priority should always be given to preventive measures.” (WHO)

Preventive action is often presented in three categories:
• Primary prevention targets the general population and is cheaper and more effective in the long run. Activities are focused on raising awareness about child abuse and violence. They may include campaigns aimed at children and adults such as public service announcements that encourage positive parenting, parent education programs that focus on healthy child development and programs for Internet prevention of violence.

• Secondary prevention targets «at risk» sectors of the population. Activities are focused on “specific sections of the child population considered more at risk of being abused and specific of the adult population considered to be more at risk of abusing.” Examples of secondary prevention include young parent support services and respite services (Austrian Institute of Criminology Journal 2000).

• Tertiary prevention focuses on families and other settings where abuse has already occurred. Activities are focused on seeking to reduce the negative effects of abuse and to prevent its recurrence. These may include mental health services for children and families affected by the abuse and/or parent/mentor programs with non-abusing families (Child Welfare Information Gateway).
Reminder of relevant articles in the Convention on the Rights of the Child (CRC)

Relevant Articles

Article 19

1. States Parties shall take all appropriate legislative, administrative, social and educational measures to protect the child from all forms of physical or mental violence, injury or abuse, neglect or negligent treatment, maltreatment or exploitation, including sexual abuse, while in the care of parent(s), legal guardian(s) or any other person who has the care of the child.

2. Such protective measures should, as appropriate, include effective procedures for the establishment of social programs to provide necessary support for the child and for those who have the care of the child, as well as for other forms of prevention and for identification, reporting, referral, investigation, treatment and follow-up of instances of child maltreatment described heretofore, and, as appropriate, for judicial involvement.

Article 34

States Parties undertake to protect the child from all forms of sexual exploitation and sexual abuse. For these purposes, States Parties shall in particular take all appropriate national, bilateral and multilateral measures to prevent:

(a) The inducement or coercion of a child to engage in any unlawful sexual activity;
(b) The exploitative use of children in prostitution or other unlawful sexual practices;
(c) The exploitative use of children in pornographic performances and materials.

Article 35

States Parties shall take all appropriate national, bilateral and multilateral measures to prevent the abduction of, the sale of or traffic in children for any purpose or in any form.

Article 36

States Parties shall protect the child against all other forms of exploitation prejudicial to any aspect of the child’s welfare.

Article 38

States Parties shall take all feasible measures to ensure protection and care of children who are affected by an armed conflict.

Updates on Universal Ratifications and various Optional Protocols (as of 2017)

Convention on the Rights of the Child (CRC)
- 196 State Parties have ratified the Convention on the Rights of the Child
- The United States of America is the only UN member-state that has not ratified the CRC

- 173 States have ratified or acceded, 9 States have signed but not ratified, 23 States have neither signed nor ratified
- Child-Friendly Version of OPSC

Optional Protocol on the Involvement of Children in Armed Conflict (OPAC)
- 166 States have ratified or acceded and 13 States have signed but not ratified, 18 States have neither signed nor ratified

Third Optional Protocol to the Convention on the Rights of the Child on a Communications Procedure (OPCP)
- On 14 April 2014, the Optional Protocol to the Convention on the Rights of the Child on a Communications Procedure (OPCP) came into force. The new Protocol enables children and their representatives to submit complaints of specific human rights violations (as outlined in the CRC, OPSC and OPAC) directly to the Committee on the Rights of the Child
- This possibility is available to children whose governments have ratified the Third Optional Protocol
- 34 States have ratified or acceded

The Optional Protocols gives children who have exhausted all legal avenues in their own countries the possibility of applying to the Committee. It means children are able to fully exercise their rights and are empowered to have access to international human rights bodies in the same way adults are under several other human rights treaties. It is a major step forward in the implementation of children’s rights, but at the same time we urge States to develop their own systems to ensure that children’s rights are respected and protected and that their voices can be heard.

CRC Chair Kirsten Sandberg
OHCHR News 14 January 2014
6 March 2018
Special Representative of the UN Secretary General on Violence Against Children, Marta Santos Pais

UNITED NATIONS GENEVA (6 March 2018)

Remarks by Marta Santos Pais, Special Representative of the UN Secretary-General on Violence against Children who was very thankful and uplifted that so many delegations recognized the critical importance of preventing all forms of violence against children.

« The first 1,000 days of a child were decisive and defined the way and their future. When they benefited from a very loving and caring family environment, they could become the happiest human beings. But when abuse, neglect, corporal punishment and ill-treatment happened in early years, they would not have confidence to share their stories, and even less, to seek help. They would have health problems, and would often become recruited in criminal activities, not even realizing that what they were doing was wrong.

« When societies did not invest in early childhood programmes, countries could lose up to twice of their health and education investment. As such, this was also an economic argument, and the achievement of Sustainable Development Goal 4, was a prerequisite in order to achieve the best and highest quality education.

« The Special Representative urged States to undertake three important measures.

Firstly, to convey a very clear message to society that it was unacceptable to use disciplinary or punishment measures against children. Unfortunately, 300 million children in the world (approximately one of every four children) suffered violence in early life.

Second, to create conditions for supporting parents to stimulate their children, be it at home, to not be stressed.

Third, cross-sectoral cooperation between different levels of government as well as civil society had to be promoted. States had to invest in early childhood programmes, social protection measures, justice and home affairs. The investment in budgets for early childhood was very weak.

« Ms. Santos Pais thanked Chile, Senegal, Norway, Thailand and Estonia who had shared interesting best practices and urged that national plans were needed on this issue.

« She also hailed the initiatives launched by Sweden, Austria and Sovereign Order of Malta on best practices on prevention and victim reintegration. Even more encouraging were the initiatives launched by regional entities, including by the Association of Southeast Asian Nations, the South American Trade Bloc, the African Union and the Economic Community of West African States. So many encouraging decisions were being taken but this was not enough.

« Addressing the questions, including the one on cyber bullying and online abuse raised by the United States, she referred to a report issued by the Secretary-General a year and a half ago on this issue, which proposed strategies and measures on how to combat these scourges.

« Good practices were fundamental in this regard, and States needed to model positive behaviour, sensitize children, and involve parents on how to use these guidelines. They needed to ensure the capacity of children. They needed to move forward in helping child victims report safely. In this regard, she stressed that most children were very frightened about the level of violence they suffered. States needed to empower children and enhance the capacity of professionals. They needed to fight impunity. The work of child protection and law enforcement agencies was crucial in achieving positive results.

Mexico had made important contributions, and she welcomed not its national plan but the survey on the violence against children, which would be a great contribution to this debate.»

In 2019 there will be an in-depth review of Goal 16, including target #16.2: «to end all forms of violence against children».

And of Goal 4: «Ensure inclusive and equitable quality education and promote lifelong learning opportunities for all».
Brief Report of the Special Representative of the UN Secretary General for Children and Armed Conflict

6 March 2018
UN Under-Secretary-General
Special Representative of the Secretary-General for Children and Armed Conflict
Virginia Gamba

UNITED NATIONS GENEVA (6 March 2018)

A vision going forward following 20 years of the children and armed conflict mandate.

We recommend that any civil society organization or individual wishing to learn more about this issue, studies her report, which includes:
- A vision going forward following 20 years of the children and armed conflict mandate
- Progress and challenges in addressing grave violations against children in armed conflict
- Denial of humanitarian access and its impact on the human rights of children

“Special Representative of the Secretary-General for children and armed conflict, explained that her Office was strengthening the existing tools through proactive engagement with States going through conflict, including through delivering technical assistance. The Office intended to reinforce the country task forces on the monitoring mechanism. The action plans were the best tools for protection and they complemented future prevention actions to protect children in armed conflict. It was important to ensure access to verify how action plans were managed. More understanding and research was needed into what worked or did not work in the action plans. The Office was building broader partnerships and benefiting from the existing work. It was also going to engage and improve on awareness raising campaigns, as well as to increase membership of voluntary initiatives, such as the Safe Schools Declaration.

“Ms. Gamba said she intended to open an office in Brussels to strengthen the interaction with all the missions, agencies and civil societies based there. She suggested to the Council to hold a special session on attacks on schools and hospitals. As for sub-regional and regional approaches, the Office was currently in negotiations with the Intergovernmental Authority on Development (IGAD) on the protection of children in armed conflicts in the East Horn of Africa. More child protection officers were needed everywhere to try to draw attention to all those negotiations on peace agreements and the protection measures for children. As for the special needs of girls in conflicts, Ms. Gamba invited delegations to attend a special session on that. If the plateau between the children released and the children recruited was to be broken, States had to seriously discuss what reintegration meant and the costs of reintegration, Ms. Gamba emphasized.”

Building support with civil society:
“Strengthening relationships with academia and civil society and NGOs working on the issue of children and armed conflict is a key priority for the Special Representative. She addressed Member States and civil society organizations through a video message at the second international conference on safe schools, held in Buenos Aires in March 2017. In addition, in recent months, the new incumbent has held joint briefings to share information on her priorities for the Office and to discuss ways of maintaining the focus on the children and armed conflict agenda. The Special Representative met with over 50 organizations, in London, Brussels, Geneva, New York and a number of other places in the second half of 2017. In Geneva, close collaboration has continued with the Child Rights Connect working group in order to mainstream the work on children and armed conflict in a number of Geneva-based processes.”

Statement attributable to Spokesman for the Secretary-General on Children and Armed Conflict Report Stephane Dujarric

“The United Nations has verified more than 21,000 violations committed against children in 2017. The United Nations has reliable reports of more than 10,000 children killed or maimed in armed conflict last year. The Secretary-General is outraged at this number, a significant increase compared to previous years and documented in his Annual Report on Children and Armed Conflict published today. Children are also affected by other verified violations, including the recruitment and use of children by armed groups, sexual violence and attacks on schools and hospitals.

“Boys and girls have once again been overly impacted by protracted and new violent crisis. Despite some progress, the level of violations remains unacceptable.

“The Secretary-General reiterates that the best way to address this horrific situation is to promote peaceful solutions to conflicts. He calls on all parties to exert maximum efforts in this regard.

“The Secretary-General reminds parties to conflict of their responsibility to protect children, in line with international humanitarian and human rights laws. He calls on all parties to conflict to engage with the United Nations to develop concrete measures to end and prevent grave violations against children and to provide support and relief to affected children.

We recommend that you read the entire 2018 report, which provides an overview of her activities since her previous report, and includes a thematic study on surrogacy and sale of children, and recommendations on how to uphold the prohibition of, and how to prevent the sale of children.

«Recommendations at the national level:
The Special Rapporteur invites all States to:

(a) Ratify the Convention on the Rights of the Child and its three Optional Protocols;

(b) Adopt clear and comprehensive legislation that prohibits the sale of children, as defined by the Optional Protocol to the Convention on the Rights of the Child on the sale of children, child prostitution and child pornography, in the context of surrogacy;

(c) Create safeguards to prevent the sale of children in the context of commercial surrogacy, which should include either the prohibition of commercial surrogacy until and unless properly regulated systems are put in place to ensure that the prohibition on sale of children is upheld, or strict regulation of commercial surrogacy which ensures that the surrogate mother retains parentage and parental responsibility at birth and that all payments made to the surrogate mother are made prior to any legal or physical transfer of the child and are non reimbursable (except in cases of fraud) and which rejects the enforceability of contractual provisions regarding parentage, parental responsibility, or restricting the rights (e.g. to health and freedom of movement) of the surrogate mother;

(d) Create safeguards to prevent the sale of children in the context of altruistic surrogacy, which should include, where altruistic surrogacy is permitted, proper regulation of altruistic surrogacy (e.g. to ensure that all reimbursements and payments to surrogate mothers and intermediaries are reasonable and itemized and are subject to oversight by a court or other competent authority, and that the surrogate mother retains parentage and parental responsibility at birth);

(e) Ensure that in all parentage and parental responsibility decisions involving a surrogacy arrangement, a court or competent authority makes a post-birth best interests of the child determination, which should be the paramount consideration;

(f) Ensure that in all parentage and parental responsibility decisions involving a surrogacy arrangement, a court or competent authority conducts an appropriate and non-discriminatory suitability review of the intending parent(s), either prior to or after the birth or both;

(g) Closely regulate, monitor and limit the financial aspects of all surrogacy arrangements, with a requirement for full disclosure of the financial aspects of all surrogacy arrangements to the court or competent authority reviewing the surrogacy arrangement;

(h) Regulate all intermediaries involved in surrogacy arrangements, in regard to the financial aspects, relevant competencies, use of contractual arrangements, and ethical standards;

(i) Regulate the medical aspects of surrogacy arrangements to ensure the health and safety of the surrogate mother and child, including by placing appropriate limits on the number of embryos transferred to a woman at one time;

(j) Protect the rights of all surrogate-born children, regardless of the legal status of the surrogacy arrangement under national or international law, including by protecting the best interests of the child, protecting rights to identity and to access to origins, and cooperating internationally to avoid statelessness;

(k) Focus on any criminal or civil penalties for illegal surrogacy arrangements primarily upon the intermediaries;

(l) Collect, analyse and share comprehensive and reliable data, and conduct qualitative and quantitative research studies, on surrogacy arrangements and the monitoring and evaluation of surrogacy systems, services and outcomes in order to develop appropriate human rights-compliant measures.

Children Involved in Armed Conflict

This is the first day of the 19 Days campaign 2018

The issue of children involved in armed conflict remains a central issue in our general efforts to draw continued attention on prevention of violence and abuse against children and youth.

The expression “children associated with armed groups/forces” is progressively replacing the term “child soldiers.”

Definition
“Any person below 18 years of age who is, or who has been recruited or used by an armed force or armed group in any capacity, including, but not limited to, children, boys and girls, used as fighters, cooks, porters, spies, or for sexual purposes.”

Children are affected by armed conflict in many ways. The United Nations Security Council has identified six grave violations in connection to children in armed conflict:

- Killing and maiming of children
- Recruitment or use of children as soldiers
- Sexual violence against children
- Attacks against schools or hospitals
- Denial of humanitarian access for children
- Abduction of children

We share with you overleaf the «Watchlist Special Update - UN Security Council Open Debate on children and Armed Conflict», Link: https://watchlist.org/

Watchlist is a network of local, national and international NGOs striving to end violations against children in armed conflicts and to guarantee their rights. This Special Update is based on UN reporting and is reflective of trends Watchlist and its members have identified through their work in conflict-affected countries.

According to the Secretary-General on Children in Armed conflict:
«In 2017, there is a large increase in the number of violations» as compared to 2016, he added, referring to «at least 6000 verified violations attributed to government forces and more than 15000 to non-state armed groups.»

Relevant Sustainable Development Goals by 2030

Target 1 “Significantly reduce all forms of violence and related death rates everywhere”
Target 2 “End abuse, exploitation, trafficking and all forms of violence against and torture of children”
Target 7 “Take immediate and effective measures to eradicate forced labor, end modern slavery and human trafficking and secure the prohibition and elimination of the worst forms of child labor, including recruitment and use of child soldiers, and by 2025 end child labor in all its forms”

On July 9, 2018, the UN Security Council will hold its Open Debate on Children and Armed Conflict (CAC), under the presidency of Sweden, current chair of the Security Council Working Group on CAC. At the debate, the Secretary-General (SG) will present his annual report on CAC, pursuant to Security Council Resolution 2225 (2015), covering January 1 to December 31, 2017. Sweden will take the opportunity of the debate to highlight protection of children’s rights and prevention of future violations, and plans to introduce a resolution for adoption.

At this writing, the SG’s 2018 annual report had not yet been released. The recommendations below, therefore, are based on other UN reporting, and are reflective of trends Watchlist and its members have identified through their work in conflict-affected countries.

The impartial inclusion of country situations and listing of perpetrators in the annual report on the basis of credible evidence gathered, reviewed, and rigorously verified by the UN-led Monitoring and Reporting Mechanism (MRM) is essential to address grave violations and promote accountability. It is anticipated that for the second year in a row, the annexes of the SG’s report will be divided into two categories: parties to conflict that have “put in place measures […] aimed at improving the protection of children” and those that have not. It is unclear what criteria the SG has used to determine these two categories, and the division undermines listing as a tool for condemnation and accountability. Considering that violations by parties deemed to have put in place measures, such as the Saudi Arabia-led Coalition, continued in 2017, Watchlist urges the SG to carefully monitor and publically document measures listed parties have implemented during the reporting period, and return to a single list of parties that commit grave violations against children in future annual reports on CAC.

Ongoing reform processes at the UN, including budget cuts to peacekeeping and efforts to streamline protection mandates, threaten the UN’s ability to deliver on the Security Council’s CAC mandate, particularly as a result of diminished child protection capacity in peace missions. Child protection advisers play a critical role in monitoring and reporting, operationalizing action plans, and strengthening the overall child protection architecture in field missions. Watchlist reiterates its calls for continued support for child protection in UN peace operations.

In his 2018 annual report on the protection of civilians in armed conflict (S/2018/462), the SG highlights the alarming impacts of the denial of humanitarian access on children, including the use of starvation as a method of warfare. In a number of country situations on the CAC agenda, including Iraq, Mali, Myanmar, Nigeria, South Sudan, Sudan, Syria, Yemen, and Palestine, parties have used various means to prevent civilians from accessing humanitarian assistance, leading in many instances to manmade public health crises, extreme hunger, and in some cases, famine. Parties to conflict have also attacked hospitals, contracting access to treatment while health care needs have skyrocketed. In order to promote accountability for this violation, as well as strengthened and standardized monitoring and reporting, Watchlist recommends that States request the Office of the Special Representative of the Secretary-General for Children and Armed Conflict (OSRSG-CAAC) to develop practical guidance on data collection on the denial of humanitarian access.

On the 18th ‘birthday’ of the Optional Protocol to the UN Convention on the Rights of the Child on the involvement of children in armed conflict (OPAC), Watchlist calls for universal ratification of the protocol and encourages those States that have not yet signed or ratified to do so without delay. Watchlist encourages States to declare their support for a ‘Straight-18’ standard and to promote global consensus to end the military recruitment and use of children. Watchlist further calls on States that have not yet done so to endorse the Paris Principles and Vancouver Principles, which offer practical guidance for the protection of children from recruitment and use and their effective reintegration.

In view of the upcoming Open Debate, Watchlist recommends that the Security Council and other UN Member States:

1. Call for an accurate and credible list of perpetrators of the grave violations, grounded in impartial evidence-based reporting:

   - Afghanistan
   - Central African Republic
   - Colombia
   - Democratic Republic of the Congo
   - Iraq
   - Mali
   - Myanmar (Burma)
   - Nigeria
   - Philippines
   - Somalia
   - South Sudan
   - Sudan
   - Syrian Arab Republic
   - Yemen
a. Welcoming the SG’s 2018 annual report, reiterate support for the Security Council’s CAC mandate, including the integrity and impartiality of the mechanism for listing all perpetrators of grave violations of children’s rights;

b. In support of his impartiality, call on the SG to ensure an accurate and credible list of perpetrators in the annexes of his annual reports; taking note of their reformating for a second consecutive year, strongly urge the SG to publicly document and carefully monitor measures listed parties have taken during the reporting period to protect children; and further call for a return to a single list of parties that commit grave violations in future annual reports on CAC.

2. Call for more effective monitoring, reporting, and response to child rights violations in armed conflict situations:

a. In order to effectively implement the Council’s CAC agenda, preserve standalone capacity of UN peacekeeping and political missions to monitor, report, and respond to grave violations against children; and to this end, call for a review of the consolidation of child protection functions within human rights components of these missions to determine impact on delivery of the UN’s child protection mandate;

b. Call on States, UN entities, and other parties concerned to integrate child protection provisions, including those relating to release and reintegration, in the early stages of all peace and ceasefire negotiations; to this end, urge stakeholders to draw upon new and existing tools, including the Checklist for drafting CAC provisions in peace agreements, developed by Watchlist and other experts;

c. Expressing grave concern over the detention of children on national security charges, urge States to treat children associated with armed groups as victims entitled to full protection of their rights, including rehabilitation and reintegration into society; in cases where children may have committed illegal acts, States should ensure they are treated in accordance with international juvenile justice standards, including the use of detention only as a last resort and for the shortest possible period of time;

d. Reminding all parties of their obligations under international law to allow and facilitate safe, timely, and unhindered humanitarian access to civilians in need, including children, request the OSRS-G-CAAC to develop practical guidance on data collection on denial of humanitarian access to standardize and support the work of UN Country Task Forces on Monitoring and Reporting.

3. Call for effective implementation and signing of more UN action plans with armed forces and groups listed in the annexes of the SG’s annual report on CAC:

a. Emphasize the responsibility of all listed parties, including those designated as having put in place measures to protect children, to enter into and fully implement concrete and time-bound action plans with the UN to end all violations; and further call on parties with existing action plans to take timely steps towards more effective implementation and to report on their progress;

b. Encourage the UN to strengthen its engagement with armed non-State actors to end and prevent violations against children, including through negotiation and signing of action plans; and to this end, call on States to allow and facilitate access for these purposes;

c. Urge those parties to conflict that have signed action plans to widely disseminate their commitments following signature, including to civil society and affected communities, in order to increase transparency, facilitate monitoring, and promote compliance.

4. Call for strengthened accountability for all perpetrators of child rights violations, including those who attack schools and hospitals and/or deny humanitarian access:

a. Urge Member States to implement the SG’s recommendations regarding measures to protect health care (S/2016/722), including by supporting UN data collection on attacks on health care in armed conflict through the Security Council-mandated MRM and other mechanisms, and specifically to allow independent monitors unhindered access to affected locations and persons;

b. Hold to account parties to conflict who deliberately target schools; call upon States to commit to avoiding the military use of schools by endorsing the Safe Schools Declaration, and to integrate guidance on military use of schools into their training materials and special operating procedures;

c. To promote global consensus to end military recruitment and use of children, support the Straight-18 standard, and encourage States that have not yet signed or ratified the OPAC to do so without delay; further encourage States to endorse the Paris Principles and Vancouver Principles.
You have a unique opportunity to:

- Connect your values with the Convention on the Rights of the Child and the SDG target #16.2
- Promote the child as a person with rights and dignity using your religious texts to provide examples
- Create safe environments for children, challenging social and cultural norms that justify violence against children
- Create awareness in your community about the continuous use of child soldiers in more than 50 countries
- Take action and sign up to local campaigns to end children being involved in armed conflicts and to support law reform
- Use the 19 November - World Day for Prevention of Child Abuse and reminder of the SDG Target #16.2 to mobilise your congregation to help eliminate all forms of violence against children

1. Lobby the government
   - if your country is involved in armed conflict, to develop or implement an Action Plan to ensure child protection [link]

2. Develop
   - a legal framework ensuring that children formerly associated with armed groups/forces are considered not as criminals but as victims and have access to recovery and rehabilitation

3. Develop / improve
   - birth registration and census systems, facilitate family tracing, and help assess the number of children recruited or vulnerable to recruitment

4. Raise
   - funds or resources in favor of rehabilitation centers

5. Visit
   - rehabilitation centers for demobilized children and organize meetings/discussions with children, staff and affected persons

6. Ensure
   - that training is provided for all professionals working with children affected by armed conflict

7. Organize
   - walks, marches or any other public action showing your solidarity with these children even if your own country/region is not itself at war, with the hashtag #childrennotsoldiers to show your support

8. Introduce
   - peace education programs in schools

9. Support
   - Children to be Human Rights Defenders

10. Create
    - awareness about the fifty countries that still allow the recruitment of children in armed forces

Sexual Abuse
It takes compassion to end violence against children and youth - see page 77 how to create a circle of compassion

Definition
Child sexual abuse is the involvement of a child in sexual activity that he or she does not fully comprehend, is unable to give informed consent to, for which the child is not developmentally prepared, or that violates the laws or social norms of society. Child sexual abuse consists of the activity between a child and an adult or between a child and another child, who by age or development is in a relationship of responsibility, trust or power, with the activity being intended to gratify or satisfy the needs of this other person.1 There are a variety of forms of sexual abuse including, but not limited to, rape, incest, indecent conduct, pedophilia, and grooming.

Context/situations where sexual abuse can occur.
Family, schools (including journey to and from school), medical sector, judicial facilities and institutions, in the context of an armed conflict, on the Internet and via social media, etc.

Consequences of sexual abuse
Psychological and physical effects such as unwanted pregnancies, gynecological complications, sexually transmitted diseases, mental health problems, suicidal behavior, social exclusion, stigma, etc.

Endocapacets of sexual abuse
Experiences emotional distress, lifelong emotional and psychological problems, vulnerability to violence, substance abuse, mental problems, suicidal behavior, complications, sexually transmitted diseases, as unwanted pregnancies, gynecological, psychological and physical effects such as fear of «getting into trouble» as well as shame and stigma all contribute to children not reporting. (Unicef)

ECPAT is dedicated to ending all forms of child sexual exploitation. One of their recent studies found that boys and young children face a greater risk of severe online sexual exploitation.

Relevant SDG Target 2030
Target 16.2
"End abuse, exploitation, trafficking and all forms of violence against and torture of children"

Analysis of Interpol’s database:
The research included a visual analysis of a sample of images and videos stored by INTERPOL in the “ICSE Database,” which is an investigative tool containing media seized by law enforcement around the globe and used as evidence in criminal enquiries. Researchers categorized and analyzed its content to better understand patterns of offending and victimization.

More severe abuse to younger children
The study “found a link between the age of the victim and the severity of abuse.” When victims were younger, the abuse was more likely to be extreme. It was also found that very young children were more likely than older victims to be subjected to abuse and exploitation that featured additional “problematic paraphilic themes,” (sexual behaviour that risks causing another person psychological distress, injury, or death).”

In 2017, over half of all children globally ages from 2-17 years were victims of physical, sexual, or emotional abuse.3

Violence is the second leading cause of death in boys aged 10-19 years, with a global homicide rate for that age group of 7 per 100 000 population.4

70% to 85% of sexual abuse cases, the abuser is somebody that the child knows and trusts (estimate).5

Incest and sexual abuse crosses all socio-economic, race, class barriers. It happens in both rural and urban environments.7

Across their lives, more than 1 in 5 children have experienced physical abuse, while more than 1 in 3 children have experienced emotional abuse.8

Every year, there are an estimated 41 000 homicide deaths in children under 15 years of age due to child maltreatment.9

General Ideas for Action!

1. Ensure
   - that your government is implementing SDG target 16.2: « to end abuse, exploitation, trafficking, and all forms of violence against children »

2. Listen
   - to children and give them the opportunity to express their views and treat them with respect

3. Training
   - children in schools and communities on the prevention of abuse and violence against children

4. Speak
   - out earlier about sexual advances and abuse

5. Promote
   - the establishment of comprehensive sexuality education in schools

6. Request
   - local and national authorities to set up and update profiles of known pedophiles

7. Request
   - that Interpol set up and update files of known pedophiles

8. Initiate
   - programs that help break the prevailing collective silence on issues on child sexual abuse

9. Support
   - networking and alliance building between children- and civil society organizations/ local authorities/ governments to strengthen prevention measures of abuse and violence

10. Support
    - and develop skills to enable adults who work with youth for meaningful and ethical participation with children for the prevention of child abuse

IDEAS FOR FAITH-BASED LEADERS AND COMMUNITIES

- You have a unique opportunity to:
  - Connect your values with the Convention on the Rights of the Child and the SDG target #16.2
  - Promote the child as a person with rights and dignity using your religious texts to provide examples
  - Create safe environments for children, challenging social and cultural norms that justify violence against children
- Make statements firmly condemning all forms of sexual abuse, harassment, and violence against children
- Contribute to community learning about prevention of violence against children
- Speak on behalf of children and make their voices be heard
- Create circles of compassion to increase action to achieve SDG Agenda 16.2

WHAT YOUTH CAN DO

- Speak up if you see, hear or experience any form of sexual abuse
- Participate and engage in prevention activities in your community
- Ensure your inclusion in research, planning, developing, implementing, and monitoring prevention activities and programs
- Create youth associations and organizations, youth groups and local centers and facilitate sharing about abuses and violence

Bullying

Definition

Bullying is when a child is exposed to negative actions from one or more people repeatedly over a period of time. Negative action is when a person intentionally inflicts injury or discomfort upon another person, through physical contact, verbal abuse, or otherwise. This includes physical bullying (e.g. pushing, hitting, tripping, kicking, taking or breaking someone’s things, making rude gestures), psychological bullying (e.g. spreading false rumors, damaging reputation, excluding or embarrassing someone) and verbal bullying (e.g. calling names, verbal harassment, taunting, threatening).1

A more recent form of bullying is cyberbullying, which constitutes of any aggressive, intentional act carried out by a group or an individual, using electronic forms of contact, against a victim who cannot easily defend him or herself. Bullying is different from teasing in that bullying involves physical or emotional abuse.

Context or situations where bullying can occur: Bullying can occur in a variety of settings, including at home, on the playground, in schools, on the journey to and from schools, and on the Internet.

Consequences of bullying: There are many negative long-term effects for children who have been bullied including psychological outcomes such as depression, anxiety, and low life satisfaction. Other consequences include a heightened risk of eating disorders and social and relationship difficulties, like loneliness and social withdrawal.

http://www.webb2017.com/ «By sharing knowledge, exploring new perspectives and acknowledging that bullying and other forms of violence have to be understood as a complex interplay between individual and contextual factors we move forward and improve both the understanding and the solutions. The intention of the conference was to create multidisciplinary and cross-level dialogues, panels and meetings to improve the understanding of bullying and the work to stop and prevent it. We met our goals and expectations of the first World Anti-Bullying Forum and we look forward to exploring the possibilities of making this a bi-yearly event.»

Safety Net: Cyberbullying’s impact on young people’s mental health - Inquiry report © The Children’s Society 2018
https://youngminds.org.uk/media/2189/prc144b-social_media_cyberbullying_inquiry_full_report.pdf

Bullying is one of the most difficult areas of violence against children to eliminate, especially with the ubiquitous role that internet and mobile technology plays in their life today and the capacity this gives for bullying to continue night and day. Bullying seems to be part of human nature and has been with us since ancient times, but that is no reason to accept it fatalistically as “natural” and, for children, part of growing up. Only in the 1970s was research first undertaken to explore the phenomenon and to attempt to understand why it takes place and its impact on individuals and societies. With the emergence of the internet and social media, bullying has taken a more sinister turn, becoming more relentless, constant and inescapable for victims. Read about it in «Bullying: perspectives, practice and insights» https://book.coe.int/en/ from the Council of Europe

World Anti-Bullying Forum

Globally, 13 percent of children, ages two through 17, experienced physical bullying, and 36 percent experienced teasing or emotional bullying, in the past year.4

A study of 40 developing countries showed that an average of 42% of boys and 37% of girls were exposed to bullying.5

In the United States the percentages of individuals who have experienced cyberbullying at some point in their lifetimes have nearly doubled (18% to 34%) from 2007-2016.6

In a survey of teens in Europe and North America, 31% indicated that they had bullied others (*UNICEF)

Every 7 MINUTES a child is bullied: • Adult intervention – 4%. • Peer intervention – 11%. • No intervention – 85%.7

More than nine out of 10 young people believe bullying is a pervasive problem in their communities.8

Relevant Sustainable Development Goals by 2030

Target 1 “Significantly reduce all forms of violence and related death rates everywhere”

Target 2 “End abuse, exploitation, trafficking and all forms of violence against and torture of children”

Target 5 “By 2030, eliminate gender disparities in education and ensure equal access to all levels of education and vocational training for the vulnerable, including persons with disabilities, indigenous peoples and children in vulnerable situations”

Target A “Build and upgrade education facilities that are child, disability and gender sensitive and provide safe, non-violent, inclusive and effective learning environments for all”

Youth: 15 to 24 years. 1.2 billion estimated worldwide.

WHAT YOUTH CAN DO

1. Teach
   - your children from an early age the difference between playfulness and bullying and that bullying is unacceptable.

2. Facilitate
   - and encourage youth participation in politics and civil societies at both local community and national levels.

3. Make
   - youth participation a priority in public policies.

4. Ensure
   - that schools have mechanisms for safe and confidential student reporting, intervention, and recovery of victims, as well as rehabilitation of those who have been bullied.

5. Establish

6. Create
   - a reliable and trustful student reporting systems and helplines so that children feel safe to report bullying in confidentiality.

7. Set up
   - toll free child helplines and/or work with existing ones to ensure services are accessible.

8. Involve
   - children and youth in advocating for prevention of bullying through interactive theatre, art projects, and the production of guidelines, manuals, and videos https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=7oKjW1Ojjuw

IDEAS FOR FAITH-BASED LEADERS AND COMMUNITIES

- You have a unique opportunity to:
  - Connect your values with the Convention on the Rights of the Child and the SDG target #16.2
  - Promote the child as a person with rights and dignity using your religious texts to provide examples
  - Create safe environments for children, challenging social and cultural norms that justify violence against children

- Teach children the weight of words, to be mindful of others and demonstrate gentle kindness

- “Church is a place where you are taught to stop lying, stop beating your younger ones, change your behavior” – Child in Nigeria

- Church can also introduce examples of the notion of compassion, to help children and youth in difficult situations and learn about collective compassionate action (WWSF)

Neglect

Definition
According to General Comment No. 13 by the Committee on the Rights of the Child, neglect is “the failure to meet children's physical and psychological needs, protect them from danger, or obtain medical birth registration or other services when those responsible for children’s care have the means, knowledge and access to services to do so.”

Physical neglect includes failure to protect a child from harm or to provide the child with basic necessities, including adequate food, shelter, clothing and basic medical care.

Psychological or emotional neglect can mean lack of any emotional support and love, chronic inattention to the child, and exposure to intimate partner violence, drug or alcohol abuse.

Educational neglect is failure to comply with laws requiring caregivers to secure their children's education through attendance at school or otherwise. Moreover, abandonment is another form of neglect.

Child neglect manifests differently depending on the cultural, economic and societal context. What is considered neglect also varies with the age and development of the child, for example leaving a child unattended.

It is evident that neglect has a negative impact on children's development. Particularly in early childhood, chronic neglect can harm cognitive development of the brain.

SDGoals 2030

Target 1
"By 2030, end hunger and ensure access by all people, in particular the poor and people in vulnerable situations, including infants, to safe, nutritious and sufficient food all year round"

Target 2
"Eliminate all forms of violence against all women and girls in the public and private spheres, including trafficking and sexual and other types of exploitation"

Target 1
"Significantly reduce all forms of violence and related death rates everywhere"

Target 2
"End abuse, exploitation, trafficking and all forms of violence against and torture of children"

INNOVATIONS IN BIRTH REGISTRATION

Link: file:///C:/Users/Lois%20Herman/Downloads/innovations_in_birth_registration%20(2).pdf

Innovations in Birth Registration provides guidelines and activities to help define solutions to the most challenging birth registration contexts. To make any significant progress towards universal birth registration we need to design solutions for and with the end users, leverage cross-sector collaboration and challenge existing orthodoxies. This report, recognises the ability of digital technology to act as an enabler, powered by the rapidly increasing accessibility of mobile, cloud and analytic technologies.

The report aims to address the complex challenge of universal birth registration by combining practical guidance on innovation and design thinking methodologies together with case studies and lessons learned from birth registration interventions around the globe.

Art. 19 - CRC
1. States Parties shall take all appropriate legislative, administrative, social and educational measures to protect the child from all forms of physical or mental violence, injury or abuse, neglect or negligent treatment, maltreatment or exploitation, including sexual abuse, while in the care of parent(s), legal guardian(s) or any other person who has the care of the child.

2. Such protective measures should, as appropriate, include effective procedures for the establishment of social programmes to provide necessary support for the child and for those who have the care of the child, as well as for other forms of prevention and for identification, reporting, referral, investigation, treatment and follow-up of instances of child maltreatment described hereinafter, and, as appropriate, for judicial involvement.

IN 2017, 1 billion children aged 2-17 years – or one in two children – have suffered physical, sexual or emotional violence or neglect.

Children with disabilities are four times more likely to suffer from abuse or neglect.
WHAT YOUTH CAN DO

1. Lobby
   - your government to put in place a national action plan and a survey to collect data on child neglect

2. Establish
   - child-friendly information services to identify children at risk

3. Increase
   - public awareness to educate the community about neglect

4. Support
   - efforts to address social problems such as poverty, substance abuse and family violence

5. Promote
   - and encourage parenting education programs and coaching

6. Suggest
   - home visiting programs as part of the child protection policy.
   - Home visiting programs involve visits by nurses to parents and infants in their homes to provide support, education, and information

7. Organize
   - social support groups, such as a “circle of parents”:
     - self-help groups to share ideas, information and resources,
     - “Parents Anonymous”: led by parents and professionally trained facilitators to strengthen families, build caring communities, reduce social isolation and develop coping strategies

8. Explore the possibility
   - of community-based alternatives for children to be placed in institutions

9. Regularly monitor
   - and review the placement of children in institutions or alternative care and conduct regular check-ups

10. Support
    - the creation and maintenance of helplines and hotlines to report neglect

11. Treat
    - the root causes of child neglect: poverty, substance abuse, domestic violence, etc

5 Child Labor

Definition
The term child labor is often defined as work that deprives children of their childhood, their potential, and their dignity. Not all work done by children should be classified as child labor (i.e. activities such as helping parents around the home, assisting in a family business or earning pocket money outside school hours).

Child labor refers to work that:
• Is mentally, physically, socially or morally dangerous and harmful to children and interferes with their education
• Deprives them of the opportunity to attend school
• Forces them to leave school prematurely, or
• Requires them to attempt to combine school attendance with heavy work and long hours.

In its most extreme forms, child labor involves children being enslaved, separated from their families, exposed to serious hazards and illnesses and/or left to fend for themselves on the streets often at a very early age. Whether or not particular forms of “work” can be called “child labor” depends on the child’s age, the type and hours of work performed, the conditions under which it is performed and the laws within individual countries. The answer varies from country to country as well as among sectors within each country.

Towards the urgent elimination of hazardous child labor
“Children are more vulnerable to risk than adults. Urgent action is needed to ensure no child under the age of 18 is in hazardous child labor,” says ILO Director-General Guy Ryder on the occasion of World Day against Child Labor on 12 of June 2018.

“About 73 million children are in hazardous work – almost half of the 152 million children aged 5 to 17 still in child labor. These children are toiling in mines and fields, factories and homes, exposed to pesticides and other toxic substances, carrying heavy loads or working long hours. Many suffer lifelong physical and psychological consequences. Their very lives can be at risk.

“No child under the age of 18 should perform hazardous work as stipulated in the ILO’s Conventions on child labor, namely the Minimum Age Convention, 1973 (No. 138) and the Worst Forms of Child Labor Convention, 1999 (No. 182). They require governments, in consultation with the social partners, to establish and enforce a national list of hazardous work prohibited for children. Ratification of these Conventions by 171 and 181 ILO member States respectively - close to universal ratification – reflects a commitment to end child labor in all its forms. It is time to step up action.”

Sustainable Development Goals 2030

Target 8
“By 2030, substantially expand globally the number of scholarships available to developing countries, in particular least developed countries, small island developing States and African countries, for enrolment in higher education, including vocational training and information and communications technology, technical, engineering and scientific programs, in developed countries and other developing countries”

Target 7
“Take immediate and effective measures to eradicate forced labor, end modern slavery and human trafficking and secure the prohibition and elimination of the worst forms of child labor, including recruitment and use of child soldiers, and by 2025 end child labor in all its forms”

Target 1
“Significantly reduce all forms of violence and related death rates everywhere”

Target 2
“End abuse, exploitation, trafficking and all forms of violence against and torture of children”

Children make up nearly 30% of the world’s estimated 50 million to 100 million domestic workers.

30%

Globally, 120 million children between the ages of 5 and 14 are involved in child labor, with boys and girls in this age group almost equally affected.

Worldwide 218 million children between 5 and 17 years are in employment. Among them, 152 million are victims of child labor; almost half of them, 73 million, work in hazardous child labor.

167 countries have ratified the ILO Minimum Age Convention, specifying the minimum age between 14 and 16 years depending on the State’s choice.

WHAT YOUTH CAN DO

2. Demand that employers respect labor standards and that companies commit to a comprehensive code of principles, such as the Ethical Trade Initiative: http://www.ethicaltrade.org
3. Stop children from working in dangerous places. We share with you ten tips for helping end child labor: https://humaneeducation.org/2017/10-tips-for-helping-end-child-labor/

IDEAS FOR FAITH-BASED LEADERS AND COMMUNITIES

• You have a unique opportunity to:
  - Connect your values with the Convention on the Rights of the Child and the SDG target #16.2
  - Promote the child as a person with rights and dignity using your religious texts to provide examples
  - Create safe environments for children, challenging social and cultural norms that justify violence against children

• Address the illegality of businesses to use child labor

• Encourage and contribute to community protection activities to help end child labor

• Support children and adolescents in reaching out to decision-makers and the general public so that their view and ideas may be heard and taken into account

• Encourage your government and civil society actors to engage in a constructive dialogue to respect the Convention on the Rights of the Child

Corporal Punishment

2018 Main Theme (4 pages)

Definition
The right of children to be protected from corporal punishment is outlined in Article 19 of the Convention of the Rights of the Child, and in the CRC General Comment Nº 8, which defines corporal or physical punishment as “any punishment in which physical force is used and intended to cause some degree of pain or discomfort, however light. Most involve hitting (smacking, slapped, spanking) children with the hand or with an implement — whip, stick, belt, shoe, wooden spoon, etc. It can also involve kicking, shaking, throwing, scratching, pinching, biting, pulling hair or boxing ears, forcing children to stay in uncomfortable positions or forced ingestion.” In addition to physical punishment, there are other non-physical forms of punishment that are also cruel and degrading and thus incompatible with the Convention. These include, for example, punishment, which belittles, humiliates, denigrates, scapegoats, threatens, scares or ridicules the child.¹

The GLOBAL INITIATIVE TO END ALL CORPORAL PUNISHMENT OF CHILDREN works as a catalyst promoting progress towards universal prohibition and elimination of all corporal punishment of children. Link: https://endcorporalpunishment.org.

It is the most comprehensive update of where the world stands with this topic and we recommend that you use this website and prepare a most powerful local/national event to help end corporal punishment against children. We are fortunate to have such excellent research and information to share with all our coalition members to move us into robust local transformational activities. The world is waiting for our contributions.

“Corporal punishment is the most common form of violence against children worldwide. It includes any punishment in which physical force is used and intended to cause some degree of pain or discomfort, however light, as well as non-physical forms of punishment that are cruel and degrading.

“Any corporal punishment violates children’s right to respect for their human dignity and physical integrity, and their rights to health, development, education and freedom from torture and other cruel, inhuman or degrading treatment or punishment. Its legality in the majority of states — unlike other forms of interpersonal violence — violates their right to equal protection under the law “end elimination of all corporal punishment of children.”

Based on data from 30 countries, 6 in 10 children aged 12 to 23 months are subjected to violent disciplinary methods. Among children this age, almost half experience physical punishment and a similar proportion are exposed to verbal abuse.⁴

Close to 300 million children aged 2 to 4 worldwide (3 out of 4) experience violent discipline by their caregivers on a regular basis.⁶

We recommend that you familiarize yourself with this excellent Report, which gives the latest information and statistics about the issue.

“The objective of the High Level Global Conference held in Malta on the 30 May–1 June 2018 is to continue securing support and strive towards a world without corporal punishment and violence against children.

The conference included keynote addresses, panel and roundtable discussions with the participation of leading experts in the field. Participants had the opportunity to share their insight and meet other stakeholders committed to ending corporal punishment globally.

The President’s Foundation for the Wellbeing of Society was established in 2014 by Her Excellency the President of Malta, Marie Louise Coleiro Preca. The Foundation recognises relationships as the fundamental structure nurturing human existence and aims to produce relevant, appropriate and timely research by seeking innovative methodologies to engage with society for the promotion of peace and unity.

pfws.org.mt

“Corporal punishment is the most common form of violence experienced by children worldwide. In extreme cases, it can lead to injury and even death, but overwhelming evidence shows even so-called “light” corporal punishment is associated with a variety of negative outcomes including poorer mental health, cognitive development and educational outcomes, as well as increased aggression and antisocial behaviour. It has also been linked to increased approval and use of other forms of violence and criminal behaviour in later life, including corporal punishment and intimate partner violence. The long-term effects of violence in families and society – while they are felt by all – can disproportionately affect low- and middle-income countries, where its impact can be severe in terms of slowing economic growth, undermining personal and collective security, and impeding social development.

“Ending corporal punishment is therefore key to ending all violence against children (target 16.2) and reducing violence across the whole of society in the longer term. It is also essential in working towards other SDG targets, including those related to health, education, violence against women and girls, equality and economic growth.

“Prohibition of corporal punishment in law is the essential foundation for reducing its use, which must be implemented effectively, including through societywide measures to raise awareness of the new law and children’s right to protection.”

“The process of transforming society’s behaviour in childrearing and education, and its view of children – to seeing them as full holders of human rights who cannot be hit and hurt in the guise of “discipline” – takes time. If states are to achieve substantial reductions in the prevalence of violent punishment by 2030 (indicator 16.2.1), they must reform national legislation and work to make prohibition of all corporal punishment of children a reality NOW!”

Progress in numbers

53 States have prohibited all corporal punishment of children
56 States have committed to prohibiting all corporal punishment
131 States have prohibited corporal punishment in all schools
451 Recommendations have been made by the UN Committee on the Rights of the Child
190 States have received these recommendations to end corporal punishment
62 States have accepted UPR Recommendations to prohibit corporal punishment

But…Only

10% of the world’s children live in states where the law recognizes their right to equal protection from assault
In 34% of States, children convicted of an offence may be sentenced to corporal punishment under criminal, religious and/or traditional law
10 States, corporal punishment is not fully prohibited in any setting, including as a sentence for crime
732 million (1 in 2) school-age children between 6 and 17 years live in countries where corporal punishment at school is not fully prohibited (Unicef)

What religious communities can do towards ending corporal punishment of children

- Model and promote positive, non-violent parenting.
- Promote the meaning of “discipline” as teaching and guidance, not as physical punishment; offer support and resources for parents.
- Speak out about the harmful effects of corporal punishment.
Corporal Punishment cont’d.

punishment.
• Explain why the legality and practice of corporal punishment are incompatible with universal values of compassion, equality, justice, equity and non-violence.
• Place children at the heart of the community. Enable the meaningful participation of children and make provision for their voices and opinions to be heard.
• Ensure religious texts, scriptures, teachings and traditional ceremonies and practices are used to promote respect for children – not to condone or perpetrate violence against children.
• Hold vigils and events dedicated to ending legalised violence against children.
• Use opportunities in the life of the religious community such as marriage preparation and the birth of a baby, to highlight the dangers of corporal punishment and promote positive non-violent parenting.
• Link the issue of corporal punishment and the urgent need to prohibit it with campaigns to end violence against women and girls.
• Identify child protection risks in the religious community; ensure accountability and reporting mechanisms are in place.
• Ensure child protection and safeguarding policies explicitly denounce corporal punishment. • Encourage the religious community to actively support law reform at www.endcorporalpunishment.org.
• Work with others, including governments, NGOs and interfaith councils towards prohibition and elimination of all corporal punishment of children. For further information and resources, see www.churchesfornon-violence.org

“Making non-violent childhoods a reality
The ultimate goal of prohibiting corporal punishment is to ensure that no child ever experiences it, by eliminating its use completely. Legal prohibition sends a clear message that hitting and hurting a child, for whatever reason, is wrong, just as hitting and hurting adults is wrong. But implementing the law is not only about responding to adults who violently punish children – it is primarily about transforming attitudes and practice so that physical punishment is no longer seen as acceptable, enabling a shift in social norms towards positive, non-violent childrearing methods.

“Preliminary list of measures to accompany prohibition

• Wide dissemination and explanation of the law and its implications
• Detailed guidance, for all involved, on how the law should be implemented in the best interests of children
• Communication of children’s right to protection from corporal punishment and all other cruel or degrading forms of punishment to children and adults

• Dissemination of information on the dangers of corporal punishment
• Promotion of positive, non-violent forms of discipline to the public, children, parents, other carers, teachers, etc.
• Integration of implementation/enforcement of the prohibition into the national and local child protection systems
• Identification of key public figures and a wide range of partners who can support implementation of the law and transformation of attitudes
• Attraction of necessary resources
• Evaluation of the impact of law reform and other measures, through a baseline survey and regular follow-up surveys, interviewing children and parents
• Possible points for communicating key messages
• Birth registration
• Pre- and post-natal services
• All other health service and health practitioner contacts with parents, future parents and children
• Pre-school entry, school entry, school curriculum and informal educational settings

• Social and welfare services in contact with children (including children in all non-family settings) and with families
• Initial and in-service training of all those working with and for families and children, including teachers, care workers, etc.
• Elements of civil society in contact with children and families, including religious/ faith groups
• Mass media, internet, social networking, etc.

«Violence is not a private matter that should be left to families to resolve, but a matter of human rights that states have a duty to uphold.»
General Ideas for Action!

1. Identify and analyze
   Identify and analyze the factors that contribute to the use of corporal punishment and the obstacles that need to be overcome to prohibit and eliminate it.

2. Distribute, teach, and create
   Distribute, teach, and create awareness about key documents, recommendations, and human rights treaties highlighting the rights of the child to be protected from corporal punishment, and translate them into local languages.

3. Lobby
   Lobby your government to promote a rights-based approach to prohibition, and to ensure that legislation is in place to ban corporal punishment in the home, schools, penal institutions, and all settings. Where legislation is in place, ensure its effective implementation.

4. Promote and develop
   Promote and develop within the community courses on alternative forms of discipline and nonviolent communication.

5. Include training
   Include training on positive discipline methods in teacher curricula and address the causes of violent behavior of teachers and students.

6. Convene
   Convene public debates to challenge myths/norms.

7. Incorporate
   Incorporate in the school curriculum children's rights training and conflict resolution skills.

8. Create
   Create awareness about the harmful effects of corporal punishment on children.

9. Check
   Check the report 2107 https://www.dropbox.com/s/xaesyo77i16x1vx/Capture%20d%27%C3%A9cran%20202018-05-21%2017.03.png?dl=0

10. Urge
    Urge governments to commemorate the 19 November « World Day for the prevention of Violence against Children and Youth » and include the SDG target #16.2

Sale of Children

Definition
The sale of children refers to any transaction whereby a child is transferred from one person or group to another for remuneration or any other consideration, according to Article 2 of the Optional Protocol to the Convention on the Rights of the Child on the Sale of Children, Child Prostitution and Child Pornography (OPSC). A child can be sold for multiple purposes: sexual exploitation, child labor, organ trafficking, illegal adoption, child marriage, and more.

Article 3.1 (a), of the OPSC requires that States criminalize the sale of children, in particular, the offering, delivering or accepting of a child for the purpose of sexual exploitation, transfer of organs or the engagement of a child in forced labor, and improperly inducing consent for the illegal adoption of a child.

2018 Report to the 37th session of the Human Rights Council by Ms. Maud DE BOER – BUQUICCHIO, Special Rapporteur on the sale and sexual exploitation of children, including trafficking and related forms of violence against children, and other consideration, according to Article 2 of the Optional Protocol

Conclusions and recommendations

A. Objective, scope and methodology
B. Urgent concerns
C. Abusive practices in surrogacy systems
D. International legal framework
E. Defining commercial surrogacy
F. Surrogacy and sale of children
G. Sale of children in particular contexts

« Surrogacy » refers to a form of “third party” reproductive practice in which the intending parent(s) and the surrogate mother agree that the surrogate mother will become pregnant, gestate, and give birth to a child… »

Relevant Sustainable Development Goals by 2030

Target 2 “Significantly reduce all forms of violence and related death rates everywhere”
Target 1 “End abuse, exploitation, trafficking and all forms of violence against and torture of children”
Target 2 “Eliminate all harmful practices, such as child, early and forced marriage and female genital mutilation”

Target 3 “Eliminate all forms of violence against all women and girls in the public and private spheres, including trafficking and sexual and other types of exploitation”

Link: http://www.ohchr.org/EN/Issues/Children/Pages/TacklingTheDemand.aspx
Annual reports: http://www.ohchr.org/EN/Issues/Children/Pages/AnnualReports.aspx

Although many States have laws prohibiting the trafficking of children, very few have laws regarding the sale of children. The two abuses are distinct, and according to the CRC, States should implement measures to prevent both.

One third of women today aged 20 to 24 years, approximately 70 million, were married before the age of 18.

60’000
Organizations estimate that about 60,000 children between the ages of 2-4 are kidnapped every year, often sold to orphanages and end up in American or European families.\(^1\)

As demand for adoption continues to increase and supply decreases, conditions for abuse, corruption and excessive fees contribute to the sale of children and illegal adoption.\(^2\)

The Internet has led to the expansion of the sale and trafficking of children for the purposes of illegal adoption, partly because it allows the creation of websites, which offer children as commodities across borders.\(^3\)

Child marriage can be regarded as a form of the sale of children. The dowry requirement can provide an incentive for parents to arrange their daughters to marry, and child marriage can be used to settle debts and provide economic security to families. 40 per cent of girls are married before age 18, and 12 per cent of girls are married before age 15.\(^4\)

Sale of Children

General Ideas for Action!

1. Intervene
   - in schools to explain and circulate the Convention on the Rights of the Child (CRC) and the Optional Protocol on the Sale of Children, Child Prostitution and Child Pornography (OPSC)

2. Support
   - the strengthening of parenting programs and parental capacities

3. Train
   - disaster response personnel and aid agencies to take care of children and minimize the risk of children being separated from their families

4. Lobby your government to:
   - Ratify the Optional Protocol to the CRC on the Sale of Children, Child Prostitution and Child Pornography if it has not already done so. If your government is Party to the Protocol, lobby for full implementation
   - Ratify the Hague Adoption Convention and ensure that national adoption policies take into account the best interests of the child and protect against illegal adoption

5. Create
   - a local coalition with various stakeholders to devise strategies to prevent child trafficking
   - Resource: Training Manual to Fight Trafficking in Children for labor, sexual and other forms of exploitation, ILO, UNICEF and UNGIFT

6. Take steps
   - to prevent and end child early and forced marriage, which are considered forms of sale of children

Definition
The United Nations defines it as "the act of engaging or offering the services of a child to perform sexual acts for money or other consideration with that person or any other person".

Article 2 (b) of the Optional Protocol on the sale of children, child prostitution and child pornography (OPSC) defines child prostitution as "the use of a child in sexual activities for remuneration or any other form of compensation." Remuneration can be financial but could include other forms of payment, such as in kind-benefits, accommodation, or drugs.

Article 3.1 (b) of the OPSC requires that States criminalize the offering, obtaining, procuring or providing a child for child prostitution, which covers most of the supply aspects of child prostitution.

It is important to be clear that children are not prostitutes, but victims of crime and victims of sexual abuse.

Ms. Maud de Boer-Buquicchio, UN Special Rapporteur on the sale and sexual exploitation of children, including child prostitution, child pornography and other child sexual abuse material, recommends at the international level a comprehensive and global legal framework preventing, prohibiting and protecting children from sale and sexual exploitation online.

We recommend that you read the entire 2018 report, which provides an overview of her activities since her previous report, and includes a thematic study on surrogacy and sale of children, and recommendations on how to uphold the prohibition of, and how to prevent the sale of children.

Child prostitution is closely linked to other types of sexual exploitation, see campaign themes 7, 9, 10, 11 and 18.

Relevant Sustainable Development Goals by 2030

Target 2 “Eliminate all forms of violence against all women and girls in the public and private spheres, including trafficking and sexual and other types of exploitation”
Target 3 “Eliminate all harmful practices, such as child, early and forced marriage and female genital mutilation”
Target 6 “Ensure universal access to sexual and reproductive health and reproductive rights as agreed in accordance with the Programme of Action of the International Conference on Population and Development and the Beijing Platform for Action and the outcome documents of their review conferences”
Target 1 “Significantly reduce all forms of violence and related death rates everywhere”
Target 2 “End abuse, exploitation, trafficking and all forms of violence against and torture of children”

*Updated version 2018

Although no reliable data is available on the extent of the phenomenon globally, studies indicate that it exists in all environments, including in developed countries, and across various socioeconomic levels.

1 out of 188 countries, 172 countries reported trafficking for the purpose of commercial sexual exploitation and prostitution of children.

Child sex tourism is a critical part of child prostitution, and the demand side must be addressed at all levels.

It is believed that nearly 80% of all trafficking worldwide is for sexual exploitation, with over 20% of the victims being children.

One in four victims of modern slavery were children.

Poverty is a factor of heightening the risk of children being used for sexual exploitation.

Children represent 21% of the victims of commercial sexual exploitation. (1/5)

Definition

The definition may also include non-visual depictions, such as text and sound, as well as “virtual child pornography”:

New technologies have changed the way child pornography is created and traded. On the Internet, collections of child abuse material can contain millions of files, which are being shared increasingly on peer-to-peer networks instead of the web in order to evade filtering and detection software. Additionally, the Internet allows anonymous payment methods, which make it difficult to trace the purchaser of child pornography.

Article 3.1(c) of the OPSC requires States to criminalize producing, distributing, disseminating, importing, exporting, offering, selling or possessing child pornography. The prevention of child pornography involves both strong legislation, full implementation by government at all levels, coordinated community action, a locally contextualized plan of action based on facts on the ground, and a concerted focus on the demand side. Civil society has a key role to play in demanding that child pornography be prosecuted.

We recommend that you read the entire 2018 report, which provides an overview of her activities since her previous report, and includes a thematic study on surrogacy and sale of children, and recommendations on how to uphold the prohibition of, and how to prevent the sale of children.

For your information, page 17 introduces the UN Special Rapporteur on the sale and sexual exploitation of children, including child prostitution, child pornography and other child sexual abuse material.

Child Pornography

General Ideas for Action!

1. Educate
   children about the risks associated with the Internet and other technology to prevent and combat child pornography

2. Encourage

3. Conduct
   awareness-raising sessions with teachers, parents, NGOs, and government representatives to discuss risks for child pornography and protective factors such as installing filtering tools, etc.

4. Encourage
   Internet service providers, mobile phone companies, Internet cafes and other relevant actors to develop and implement Codes of Conduct and self-regulation measures that address prevention and protection from child pornography

5. Promote and raise awareness about Child Helplines in your country: https://www.childhelplineinternational.org/child-helplines/child-helpline-network/

6. Set up
   toll free helplines providing children with information and confidential support

7. Lobby
   your government to criminalize all aspects of child pornography and to ratify the Optional Protocol to the CRC on the Sale of Children, Child Prostitution and Child Pornography if it has not already done so. If your government has ratified, lobby for full implementation of the plan of action

8. Take action

Child Trafficking

Definition
A child has been trafficked if he or she has been moved within a country, or across borders, whether by force or not, with the purpose of exploiting the child (UNICEF). The International Labor Organization (ILO) notes that trafficking is closely related to the demand for cheap labor to work in conditions and treatment that violate human rights. The ILO reports that girls are trafficked in particular for sexual exploitation and domestic labor, while boys are often trafficked for agricultural work, mining, and armed conflict.1

Child trafficking can occur when children are abducted, or kidnapped, from the streets, sold into sexual slavery and forced into marriage by relatives, or in any place where traffickers, pimps and recruiters prey upon a child’s vulnerabilities. Children are often trafficked, employed and exploited because compared with adults they are more vulnerable, cheaper to hire and are less likely to demand higher wages or better working conditions.

Trafficking is a clear violation of human rights, prohibited under international human rights law.

10,000+ minors have gone missing since crossing into the EU during the migrant crisis in the last 18 months.3

The huge transnational industry of trafficking in human beings generates approximately up to $10 billion per year. Exact numbers of trafficked children are hard to pinpoint since child trafficking is mostly hidden, and victims often fearful of coming forward. One estimate is that 50 percent of trafficking victims are children.5

In the 2010 Report of the Special Rapporteur on trafficking in persons, it is made clear that strategies to prevent trafficking must address underlying factors that increase vulnerability such as poverty, lack of employment opportunities, sex discrimination and inequality, restrictive immigration laws and policies, war and conflict.2

Child trafficking is closely linked to other types of exploitation, see 19 Days campaign themes 5, 7, 8, 9, 11, and 18.

If you choose the topic of Child trafficking, we recommend you read the UN SPECIAL RAPPORTEUR ON TRAFFICKING IN PERSONS, ESPECIALLY WOMEN & CHILDREN - REPORT TO THE HUMAN RIGHTS COUNCIL 2018 ANALYSIS OF IDENTIFICATION, REFERRAL & PROTECTION OF VICTIMS & POTENTIAL VICTIMS OF TRAFFICKING IN MIXED MIGRATION

Relevant SDG Goals 2030

Target 2 “Eliminate all forms of violence against all women and girls in the public and private spheres, including trafficking and sexual and other types of exploitation”

Target 3 “Eliminate all harmful practices, such as child, early and forced marriage and female genital mutilation”

Target 7 “Take immediate and effective measures to eradicate forced labor, end modern slavery and human trafficking and secure the prohibition and elimination of the worst forms of child labor, including recruitment and use of child soldiers, and by 2025 end child labor in all its forms”

Target 1 “Significantly reduce all forms of violence and related death rates everywhere”

Target 2 “End abuse, exploitation, trafficking and all forms of violence against and torture of children”

Thousands of ads are posted on the Internet daily to promote some form of trafficking.

Child Trafficking by Region:
Sub-Saharan Africa 70% of humans trafficked are children. South Asia 40% of humans trafficked are children. East Asia and Pacific, and South America, 33% of humans trafficked are children.3

53% of children trafficked are for sexual exploitation and 40% forced Labor.7

Globally, 1 in 8 persons is a migrant. This includes an estimated 214 million international migrants and an estimated 740 million internal migrants. This includes millions of children under the age of 18 who migrate without their parents. They are the most vulnerable to child trafficking.4
You have a unique opportunity to:

- Connect your values with the Convention on the Rights of the Child and the SDG target #16.2
- Promote the child as a person with rights and dignity using your religious texts to provide examples
- Create safe environments for children, challenging social and cultural norms that justify violence against children

IDEAS FOR FAITH-BASED LEADERS AND COMMUNITIES

You can do:

1. Learn about the situation of child trafficking in your country in order to tailor responses to local, national and regional specifics
2. Create a local coalition with various stakeholders to devise strategies to prevent child trafficking
3. Raise awareness about the warning signs of child trafficking to help the community identify and support children at risk
4. Research where the source and destination points for trafficking are in your region, and empower local communities at source and destination points to understand what creates vulnerability to trafficking and determine context specific action
5. Ensure that adequate services are available for children that suffer abuse at home and raise awareness about such services. Children experiencing violence at home are more likely to run away and at a higher risk of being trafficked
6. Provide recovery and rehabilitation programs and offer emergency and long-term support for all children who have been trafficked and/or subject to commercial sexual abuse
7. Lobby your government to:
   - Ensure access to basic social services, such as education, vocational and life-skills training, health care, and birth registration. These are all key elements to preventing trafficking
   - Take steps to address child trafficking both nationally and globally and penalize adults responsible for it with prison sentences

Child Sex Tourism

Definition
Child Sex Tourism (CST) is “the sexual exploitation of children by a person or persons who travel from their home district, home geographical region, or home country in order to have sexual contact with children.” Child sex tourists can be both domestic travellers and international tourists. Child sex tourism involves the exchange of cash, clothes, food or some other form of consideration to a child or to a third party for sexual contact.1

Victims of CST are often:
• Caught in poverty, from minority groups, dependent on seasonal economies
• Working children
• Children living on the street
• Children abused or neglected in the home
• AIDS orphans 2

CST is often fuelled by weak law enforcement, corruption, the Internet, ease of travel and poverty. In an effort to counteract this crime, many governments have enacted laws to allow prosecution of their citizens for child abuse that occurs outside of their home country. It is thus crucial that tourists are informed that child sex tourism is illegal and that they are aware of the reporting channels for offenses committed by other tourists.

The sexual exploitation of children has devastating consequences, which may include long-lasting physical and psychological trauma, disease, drug addiction, unwanted pregnancy, malnutrition, social ostracism, and possible death.

ECPAT report indicates growth of child-sex tourism
“The growth of the Internet, cloud computing and advanced encryption are contributing to the growing problem of child-sex tourism, according to a new study. Laos, Cambodia and Vietnam are the latest target destinations.”

Sexual exploitation of children affects an estimated 2 million children worldwide per year. However, the actual estimate of CST is not known due to lack of existing research and the availability of data. The large majority of cases are undoubtedly never reported.8

Of the 188 countries, 62 reported instances of child sex tourism.6

In 2012, hotel business professionals (from the Accor Group), the police and ECPAT signed a joint agreement to reduce the delays in reporting cases of CST. The agreement provides special training for professionals in the hotel industry working in sex tourism destination countries in order to cooperate with authorities and better prevent the exploitation of children by tourists.4

CST destinations evolve quickly and frequently, as a result of the development of new tourism destinations and economic, social and political developments.3

Child sex tourists are particularly attracted to places where their activities will go unnoticed and their motives unsuspected, such as countries or communities in crisis, and where the risk is small.5

Harmful Traditional Practices (4 pages)

Definition
Harmful traditional practices stem from social convictions or deeply rooted traditions, culture, religion or superstition. These practices include: Female Genital Mutilation (FGM), Early, Child and Forced Marriage, a preference for sons and its implications for the girl child, acid violence, so-called “honor crimes”, initiation rites, ritual killings, witchcraft, breast flattening, binding of newborns and infants, birth superstitions, and dowry systems. These practices have severe consequences for the child’s physical, emotional and psychological development.

There are other forms of harmful traditional practices, and we invite you to reflect on which harmful practices exist in your community. The practices that have received the most attention to date in terms of debate, data collection and challenges through legal and other measures, have been FGM and Early, Child and Forced Marriage.

Overleaf you’ll find a brief presentation of FGM, early child and forced marriage, son preference and female infanticide and honor killings.

Relevant Sustainable Development Goals by 2030

"Culture of acceptance is the main cause of FGM in some communities, FGM has become a cultural practice. It is thought of as a way to make girls “clean” and “beautiful” in preparation for marriage and is a result of social norms which consider this act a necessary part of raising a girl properly." 5

In 2015, 13,500,000 children – most of them girls – will be married before they turn 18.

About 4,400,000 of them will be married before they turn 15. This equals 37,000 child marriages each day.8

India accounts for 1/3 of the global total of child brides.7

Child marriage also persists in some communities in Europe and North America

According to the UNICEF report, child marriage takes place all over the world. It even happens in developed countries – including the United States and United Kingdom.

« Culture of acceptance is the main cause of FGM in some communities, FGM has become a cultural practice. It is thought of as a way to make girls “clean” and “beautiful” in preparation for marriage and is a result of social norms which consider this act a necessary part of raising a girl properly." 5
Over 700 million women alive today were married as children.5

More than 650 million women and girls alive today were married before their 18th birthday. Twenty-one per cent of young women (20-24 years old) around the world were child brides.9

WWSF presents below selected harmful traditional practices

Female Genital Mutilation (FGM)

Definition
FGM refers to all procedures involving partial or total removal of the external female genitalia or other injury to the female genital organs for non-medical reasons.1 The procedure has no health benefits for girls and women, and instead causes severe bleeding, problems urinating, later cysts, infections, and complications in childbirth.2 The practice is often carried out by traditional circumcisers, who often play other central roles in communities, such as attending childbirths.3 FGM is nearly always carried out on minors and is a violation of the rights of the child. The practice also violates a person's right to health, security, and physical integrity, the right to be free from torture and cruel, inhumane or degrading treatment, and the right to life when the procedure results in death.

Where FGM is a social norm, the social pressure to conform to what others do and have been doing, as well as the need to be accepted socially and the fear of being rejected by the community, are strong motivations to perpetuate the practice. In some communities, FGM is still almost universally performed and unquestioned.

«While the medicalization of FGM/C is not a new phenomenon, its growing popularity is worrying and points to emerging shifts and tensions in the war to end it—a cat and mouse game between resistant communities and authorities. And while the medicalization of FGM/C went under the radar as authorities and stakeholders focused on traditional cutters in rural villages as well as alternative rites of passage, it is now emerging as a new frontier in the war against the harmful practice. Global, regional, and local focus should now shift away from traditional cutters to medical practitioners.»

Early, Child, and Forced Marriage

Definition
Forced child marriage occurs when the consent of the child is neither sought nor considered by the families or communities that arrange such marriages.4 Emotional pressure from a victim's family includes repeatedly telling the victim that the family's social standing and reputation are at stake, as well as isolating the victim or refusing to speak to her. In more severe cases, the victim can be subject to physical or sexual abuse, including rape.

Forced and child marriages have severe psychological, emotional, medical, financial, and legal consequences. Victims tend to be isolated from their peers and friends. They rarely have access to social services that could assist them. Early marriages often interrupt a victim's education. This deprives them of their right to education, as well as limits any possibility of economic independence from their spouse, making it more difficult to escape from an unwanted marriage. The unofficial nature of many of these marriages means that they often go unregistered, leaving a woman with no legal protection in case of separation. Forced and child marriages are also more likely to become violent because the relationship is based on the power of one spouse over the other. (https://www.causes.com/campaigns/90104-make-people-prioritise-and-stop-child-marriage).

In West Africa, the number of child brides in the region is set to soar to 12 million in 2030, from around eight million today, amid booming population growth across the continent. Child marriage cuts short a girl’s education and increases the possibility of death in childbirth or injuries, according to Unicef.

«According to the United Nations Population Fund (UNFPA), more than 140 million girls will become child brides between 2011 and 2020. If current levels of child marriages hold, 14.2 million girls annually, or 39,000 daily will marry too young.»

In some traditional cultures, A girl who menstruates, no matter what age, is therefore ‘a woman’ and can bear a child. 7

At least 200 million girls and women have experienced FGM/C in 30 countries across five continents, 44 million are girls below age 15.8
Furthermore, of the 140 million girls who will marry before the age of 18, 50 million will be under the age of 15. Despite the physical damage and the persistent discrimination to young girls, little progress has been made towards ending the practice of child marriage. In fact, the problem threatens to increase with the expanding youth population in the developing world.

Son Preference and Female Infanticide

Definition
Son preference refers to a whole range of values and attitudes which are manifested in many different practices, the common feature of which is a preference for the male child, often with concomitant daughter neglect. It may mean that a female child is disadvantaged from birth; it may determine the quality and quantity of parental care and the extent of investment in her development; and it may lead to acute discrimination, particularly in settings where resources are scarce. Although neglect is the rule, in extreme cases son preference may lead to selective abortion or female infanticide.

The psychological effect of son preference on women and the girl child is the internalization of the low value accorded them by society. Geographically, there is a close correspondence between the areas of strong son preference and of health disadvantage for females. Discrimination in the feeding and care of female infants and/or higher rates of morbidity and malnutrition have been reported in countries with son preferences.

Honor Killings

Definition
In many societies, rape victims, women suspected of engaging in premarital sex, and women accused of adultery have been murdered by their male relatives because the violation of a woman's chastity is viewed as an affront to the family's honour. It's difficult to get precise numbers on the phenomenon of honor killing; the murders frequently go unreported, the perpetrators unpunished, and the concept of family honor justifies the act in the eyes of some societies. Most honor killings occur in countries where the concept of women as a vessel of the family reputation predominates.

There are 5,000 honor killings reported every year around the world. Experts estimate that the actual number of honor killings is much higher.
12 Harmful Traditional Practices

General Ideas for Action!

1. Lobby your government to:
   - Implement the CEDAW and CRC Conventions, set up the legal minimum age for marriage and require birth and marriage registrations
   - Enact, strengthen and enforce laws prohibiting FGM and child marriage

2. Organize educational campaigns aimed at raising awareness of the risks and consequences of harmful traditional practices and stimulating public discussion and debate. Use of mass media (TV, radio, community theatre, newspapers), individual and group consultations, information sessions, and training sessions

3. Promote access to primary and secondary education to help delay child marriage

4. Promote a multi-sectorial, sustained and community-led approach for action http://apps.who.int/iris/bitstream/handle/10665/272429/8789241513913-eng.pdf?ua=1

7. Develop alternative coming-of-age rituals to celebrate a young girl’s entry into womanhood that do not involve physically harming them

8. Call for simplification of nullification process of Early, Child and Forced Marriages

13 Street Children

Definition
«Street children» include children living on the street, who sleep in public places, without their families; children who work on the streets during the day and return to their family home to sleep; and street-family children, who live with their family on the street.

«Street children face extreme risks and vulnerabilities, including violence, sexual exploitation, forced labor, health problems and substance abuse, to name only a few. Children living and working on the streets are among the most excluded and at-risk persons in the world and are found in almost every major city or large town.»¹

There are many factors that contribute to children living and working on the streets. Such risk factors include poverty, urban migration, the breakdown of the family and community structure, abuse and neglect in the home, trafficking, lack of access to basic services including education, and discrimination.²

In 2011, the Human Rights Council adopted Resolution 16/12 Rights of the child: a holistic approach to the protection and promotion of the rights of children working and/or living on the street. It outlines tangible recommendations for governments for prevention that civil society can help promote.

The OHCHR Brochure on Street Children makes clear: «In reality, children in street situations are deprived of many of their rights – both before and during their time on the streets – and while on the street, they are more likely to be seen as victims or delinquents than as rights holders».³

It is essential to develop and implement multi-sectorial action to both prevent children from living and working on the street, and ensure that the human rights of children on the street are respected.

Relevant Sustainable Development Goals by 2030

Target 1
“By 2030, eradicate extreme poverty for all people everywhere, currently measured as people living on less than $1.25 a day”

Target 2
“By 2030, reduce at least by half the proportion of men, women and children of all ages living in poverty in all its dimensions according to national definitions”

Target 3
“Implement nationally appropriate social protection systems and measures for all, including floors, and by 2030 achieve substantial coverage of the poor and the vulnerable”

Target 1
“By 2030, end hunger and ensure access by all people, in particular the poor and people in vulnerable situations, including infants, to safe, nutritious and sufficient food all year round”

Target 1
“Significantly reduce all forms of violence and related death rates everywhere”

Target 2
“End abuse, exploitation, trafficking and all forms of violence against and torture of children”

About 28 million children are homeless globally due to violent conflict. Almost the same number have had to abandon their homes in search of a better life.⁴

150,000,000
Abandoned, casted off, discarded, rejected and thrown out: up to 150 million children in street situations worldwide endure great deprivation and rights violations, with little to no regard given to their best interest.⁷

General Ideas for Action!

1. Raise awareness
   - in your community about Human Rights Council Resolution 16/12, and lobby your government for the implementation of its recommendations, such as:
     - Ensuring universal and free birth registration
     - Strengthening efforts to eradicate poverty
     - Ensuring fulfillment of the right to education
     - Supporting capacities of families and caregivers
     - Adopt, strengthen and implement cross-sectoral strategies and plans to eliminate violence against children living and/or working on the street
     - Promote sustainable reintegration

2. Use
   - the WHO Training Package to inform efforts working directly with street children and make sure social workers are trained in child-centered approaches http://www.who.int/substance_abuse/activities/street_children/en/

3. Raise
   - awareness about the of the Child and work with local partners to ensure that street children have their rights respected

4. Integrate
   - the voices of street-connected children into NGO planning, monitoring and evaluation

5. Ensure
   - that appropriate, child-sensitive counseling, complaint and reporting mechanisms are in place so that street-connected children can report incidents of violence http://www.ohchr.org/Documents/Issues/Children/Study/OHCHRBrochureStreetChildren.pdf

Discrimination based on health conditions

Definition
Health-based discrimination affects children with mental and/or physical disabilities, health conditions, mental illness, malnutrition, as well as children infected with sexually transmitted diseases (HIV/AIDS especially), to name only a few examples. This theme addresses many different situations in which children may be discriminated against based on health conditions. Discrimination on the basis of disability means “any distinction, exclusion or restriction on the basis of disability which has the purpose or effect of impairing or nullifying the recognition, enjoyment or exercise, on an equal basis with others, of all human rights and fundamental freedoms in the political, economic, social, cultural, civil or any other field. It includes all forms of discrimination, including denial of reasonable accommodation.”

In addition to discrimination, children with disabilities are at a high risk of experiencing violence.

Girls with disabilities are at increased risk of gender-based violence in their homes, schools, institutions, and community. Further, they are often excluded from prevention programs, support services, and access to legal redress.

“Children with disabilities have low level of enrollment in school, and even if they do attend, they are more likely to drop out early. Even in school, the quality and form of education received, often through separate schools, can increase exclusion and reinforce discriminatory social norms. This deprives children of their right to education and often limits their employment opportunities, participation in society, and a chance to escape poverty throughout the lifecycle.”

Relevant Sustainable Development Goals by 2030

- Target 5: “By 2030, eliminate gender disparities in education and ensure equal access to all levels of education and vocational training for the vulnerable, including persons with disabilities, indigenous peoples and children in vulnerable situations”

- Target A: “Build and upgrade education facilities that are child, disability and gender sensitive and provide safe, non-violent, inclusive and effective learning environments for all”

- Target 1: “Significantly reduce all forms of violence and related death rates everywhere”

- Target 2: “End abuse, exploitation, trafficking and all forms of violence against and torture of children”

The estimated number of children with disabilities between 0 and 18 years ranges between 93 million and 150 million.

Children who are poor are more likely to become disabled through poor healthcare, malnutrition, lack of access to clean water and basic sanitation, dangerous living and working conditions. Poverty and disability reinforce each other, contributing to increased vulnerability and exclusion.

You have a unique opportunity to:

- Connect your values with the Convention on the Rights of the Child and the SDG target #16.2
- Promote the child as a person with rights and dignity using your religious texts to provide examples
- Create safe environments for children, challenging social and cultural norms that justify violence against children
- Call for action to support and empower children with health conditions to ensure their equality with other children
- Ensure that the needs of children and adolescents with disabilities are taken into account in all aspects of your congregation’s activities, including when planning and implementing them
- Support parents with children suffering from disability

IDEAS FOR FAITH-BASED LEADERS AND COMMUNITIES

Youth:

- Learn about your right to dignity [link]
- Know how the problem of discrimination based on health condition manifests in your community
- Learn about how to become a Children Rights Defender
- Mark the World AIDS Day 1st December, and the International Day of Persons with Disabilities, 3rd December

WHAT YOUTH CAN DO

1. Educate
   - students on the problem of media messages that portray discriminatory representations, and stigmatize disability, health conditions, and mental illness

2. Use media
   - including advertising campaigns, as entertainment designed to educate as well as to amuse ("edutainment"), and integrate non-stigmatizing messages into TV and radio shows (UNAIDS)

3. Lobby your government
   - to take the costs associated with children with disability into account in the creation of social policies through social grants, transportation subsidies, etc. (UNICEF)

4. Take action
   - to help end overreliance on institutionalization for children with disabilities, and support the development of family-based and community-based rehabilitation (idem).

5. Dismantle barriers
   - to exclusion, and promote the need to ensure that schools, health facilities, and public spaces are built to facilitate access and the participation of all children (Idem.)

6. Be sure
   - that children with disabilities are at the center of efforts to build inclusive societies, and consulted to hear their needs and whether or not they are being met, both through NGO work and creation of government policies (Idem.)

Addiction and Substance Abuse

Introduction
For this important subject, we wish to suggest that you look up the MENTOR Foundation, the leading international NGO working globally to prevent drug abuse.

Mission: To empower young people and prevent drug abuse.
Commitment: To providing and encouraging the development of best practices and evidence-based programs aimed at the promotion of health and well-being for all young people. Mentor’s work has been recognized by the United Nations Office on Drugs & Crime, the World Health Organization, the Organization of American States, and the Council of Europe. Link: http://mentorinternational.org/about-mentor/about-us/

Addiction and Substance Abuse
is a global problem that causes a disproportionate amount of harm to children/young people. The problem spans all regions of the world, manifests in different forms, and relates to both illicit and licit drugs and substances. There is a strong correlation between children/youth exposed to drugs on one hand, and an increased risk of physical, sexual abuse, neglect, anxiety, depression, delinquency, and educational problems, on the other.1

Addiction
is the repeated use of a psychoactive substance or substances, to the extent that the user (referred to as “an addict”) is periodically or chronically intoxicated, shows a compulsion to take the preferred substance/s, has great difficulty in voluntarily ceasing or modifying substance abuse, and exhibits determination to obtain substances by almost any means. Frequently, withdrawal syndrome occurs when substance use is interrupted.

Substance abuse refers to the use of substances, including alcohol, tobacco, illicit drugs, pharmaceutical drugs, and other harmful substances used for non-medical purposes in a way that is harmful or hazardous.2 Substance abuse often leads to addiction, but can also pose a problem without the physical dependence of addiction.

The term “drug” includes any natural or synthetic substance listed in the 1961 Single Convention on Narcotic Drugs. Psychoactive substances are substances that affect mental processes when ingested and include both illicit and licit substances. In conflict regions, drugs are often used to retain children and youth as child soldiers, and children are also abducted to become traffickers in the drug trade.3 There is a strong link between substance abuse and youth engagement in criminal activities.4 An emerging challenge is “new psychoactive substances” (NPS), which mimic effects of controlled substances, but are not currently regulated by International drug treaties.5

The World Drug Report 2018 states http://www.unodc.org/wdr2018/index.html "Looking at vulnerabilities of various age groups, the Report finds that drug use and the associated harm are the highest among young people compared to older people. Most research suggests that early (12-14 years) to late (15-17 years) adolescence is a critical risk period for the initiation of substance use and may peak among young people (aged 18-25 years)."

Relevant Sustainable Development Goals

Street Children resort to theft and prostitution as a means of survival as they are more vulnerable to become addicted to drugs and experience serious mental health problems.9

General Ideas for Action!

1. Join
   Mentor International’s Prevention Hub to access the latest research and tools for substance abuse prevention amongst children and youth

2. Create a platform to publicly highlight innovative and effective drug and substance abuse prevention programs for children and youth

3. Involve children and youth in advocating for their own needs with regard to substance abuse prevention (interactive theater, art projects, child-friendly media, opportunities to address needs to government representatives, etc.)

4. Learn and integrate parenting techniques to help prevent substance abuse of your children

5. Engage with local schools, youth groups and community development organizations

6. Integrate substance abuse prevention and treatment into a national strategy for the healthy development of children and youth

7. Develop national standards for schools, employers and healthcare professionals to implement substance abuse prevention and education policies into their programming

8. Lobby
   local authorities to ensure the youth voice is heard, and use social media, TV, and press to inform adults about how drugs and substance abuse affect children and youth

9. Ensure that juvenile justice for substance abuse upholds the rights of the child

By 2050 hunger and child malnutrition could increase by up to 20 percent as a result of climate-related disasters.1

It is estimated that around 3 million children die each year due to undernutrition.5

It is estimated that around 3 million children die each year due to undernutrition.5

By 2030, end hunger and ensure access by all people, in particular the poor and people in vulnerable situations, including infants, to safe, nutritious and sufficient food all year round”

World hunger is classified as the want or scarcity of food in a country. Hunger is also referred to as malnutrition, including under-nutrition and over-nutrition. There are three forms of under-nutrition: underweight, stunting, and wasting. Being underweight, or having a low weight for a child’s age, can imply both stunting and wasting.

Malnutrition is not just defined as a lack of food, but also a deficiency of key vitamins and minerals that help develop physical and mental capabilities. The most common micronutrient deficiency is iron, which is critical for cognitive, motor, and socio-emotional growth. Iron deficiencies can lead to learning disabilities and an increased risk of infection. The absence of iodine in one’s diet, another important nutrient, is believed to be the largest cause of preventable mental retardation. Zinc is also significant in that it affects brain development and one’s metabolism. A lack of these key vitamins and minerals can be detrimental to a child’s health and future.

The right to food is protected under international humanitarian law. The Universal Declaration of Human Rights (Art. 25) and the International Covenant on Economic, Social, and Cultural Rights (Art. 11) ensure that the right to food is a human right. However, in much of the world, hunger and malnutrition are not being treated as a human rights issue. Data shows that there is enough food produced annually to feed the entire global population, yet hundreds of millions of people still go to bed hungry each night.

Studies show that decreased malnutrition leads to higher school completion rates. Providing nutritious food at school is an effective way to improve literacy rates and help children break out of this cycle of poverty. One hundred and seventy one million people could be lifted out of poverty if all students in low-income countries acquired basic reading skills.

Globally, approximately 13 percent of women were estimated to be undernourished, and 38 percent of all pregnant women suffered from anemia.3

For more information on malnutrition, consult the 2016 main theme in the 19 Days Prevention Kit online.
General Ideas for Action!

1. Promote
   - the use of breastfeeding (unless a mother is HIV infected), especially since breast milk protects babies from illness and ensures healthy physical and psychological development

2. Monitor
   - children’s growth by regularly weighing a child to identify growth faltering before it becomes a serious issue

3. Encourage
   - pregnant mothers to increase their food and nutrient intake

4. Promote
   - physical activity

5. Offer
   - a nutritious meal at school to improve attendance and literacy rates and help poor children break out of poverty

6. Devote
   - funding to nutrition programs

7. Introduce
   - diet and exercise-related programs in schools to discourage over-nutrition

8. Uphold
   - the importance of maternal nutrition before and during pregnancy to prevent low birth weight

9. Promote
   - sustainable food production and consumption, as well as good hygiene practices and access to drinking water

10. Encourage
    - healthier food choices, such as fruits, vegetables, wholegrains, and lean meats

IDEAS FOR FAITH-BASED LEADERS AND COMMUNITIES

Dangers of ICTs

Definition

Information and Communication Technology (ICT) refers to the use and transmission of information. ICT encompasses computers, the Internet, mobile phones, television, radio, satellite systems, etc. ICTs are also tools for children's empowerment and participation but at the same time they may present a risk to children's safety and well-being. In many corners of the world, children and youth today grow up with ICTs as an integral part of their life, accentuating the need to teach children how to use ICTs and to protect them from the risks they are exposed to.

The Internet and ICTs heighten the potential impact of existing forms of violence, abuse and exploitation in, among others, the following ways:

- Children's exposure to disturbing or potentially harmful content on websites, online forums and blogs
- Sale and sexual exploitation of children, which is committed or facilitated through new technologies
- Proliferation of child sexual abuse images and materials and with this, increased levels of harm for the victims and increased levels of profits for criminal enterprises
- Development of virtual networks of individuals whose principal interest lies in child sexual abuse or child trafficking and other forms of exploitation
- Inappropriate contact with children and 'grooming' by unknown adult(s)
- Cyberbullying, by means of email, online chat services, personal web pages, text messages and other forms of electronic content
- Exposure to violent video games is linked to delinquency, fighting at school and during their free time as well as violent criminal behavior
- Online pressure to make purchases or pay for services
- Overuse of ICTs and Internet ‘addiction’
- Generating and broadcasting of sexual content involving children
- Children's own involvement in cybercrime and online scams

ICTs can support the SDG AGENDA 2030

ICTs are tools, and the real issues lie not behind the tools — they lie with people who create, market and use the tools. Many NGOs only use social media to share their vision and mission. So it's about the content, not the tool itself. It does get sticky when it's about the technology, not about the information and communications we wish to share to change the world. Let's create a culture of respectful use of ICTs to create the world we want.

Many smartphone users exhibit symptoms similar to addiction. Much has been written about the dangers of screen time for children.

The American Academy of Pediatrics advises « that parents limit screen use to one hour per day for children ages 2 to 5 years, and advises « consistent limits » for children ages 6 and older.»

Relevant SDG Goal 2030

Target 2

“End abuse, exploitation, trafficking and all forms of violence against and torture of children”

Target 10

“Ensure public access to information and protect fundamental freedoms, in accordance with national legislation and international agreements”

ICTs are increasingly the means children choose to seek advice from child helplines, approach a children’s ombuds person, report incidents of violence, ask for help and assistance, or promote child rights advocacy through websites, blogs and social networks.

1. Lobby
   your government to evaluate and control media content for age appropriate use

2. Promote filtering technologies to prevent child abuse content online from being accessed

3. Teach your children about basic internet safety, including never sharing your password or address, never arranging to meet someone without telling a parent, how to report hateful content, etc.

4. Raise awareness of the risks associated with ICTs among children, their parents and caregivers

5. Encourage the development of effective policy responses, appropriate monitoring tools, counseling and complaint mechanisms

6. Promote training of law enforcement officials, teachers, child protection officers and other professionals working with children

7. Involve and empower children and youth through the use of new technologies and social media, encouraging them to share ideas and knowledge of exploitative behaviors and ways to stop them, and to report suspicious behavior http://www.ohchr.org/Documents/Issues/Children/SR/A.HRC.28.56_en.pdf

8. Support

9. Highlight

10. Ensure helplines exist in your country http://www.childhelplineinternational.org

11. Establish hotlines to allow the reporting of exploitative practices, such as the INHOPE network http://www.inhope.org/gns/home.aspx

Definition

Abduction (or kidnapping) is the taking away or transportation of a person against that person’s will, generally by force, and usually to hold the person in false imprisonment.

Child abduction can take various forms:
- Abduction by strangers or people outside the family, for criminal purposes (ransom, rape, torture, murder, etc.)
- Abduction by strangers wishing to rear the child as their own (mostly the case of persons with psychological problems)
- Abduction by a family member or relative, usually parents (assisted or not by accomplices)

Article 9 of the Convention on the Rights of the Child (CRC) calls on State Parties to “ensure that a child shall not be separated from his or her parents against their will.” In many countries, child abduction rings are in operation, and children are abducted to be sold into forced labor or forced begging, to be recruited into armed forces or drug smuggling gangs, to be sold into illegal adoption, to be trafficked for sexual exploitation, or to be forced into marriage.

Non-parental abduction can occur when children are abandoned because their families cannot care for them, when children run away from home from an unstable environment or child abuse, or when lost from their parents such as during travel, natural disasters, or displacement from conflict.

Yet, in most cases children are abducted by close relatives. International parental child abduction occurs when a parent (or legal guardian) takes his/her child(ren) to a country other than their country of residence, without prior permission from the other parent. This definition also applies to international cases in which pre-arranged child custody visits are not respected.

In order to assist in the resolution of abduction cases in a swift and consistent manner, legal and social systems must be improved.

Monitoring a dynamic threat

Control Risks’ data from 2017 demonstrated that at a global level kidnapping remains pervasive, and that kidnappers continue to rely on established tactics because they still work. However, our constant monitoring of the crime revealed the dynamic local issues that can have an impact on the threat. Understanding these local differences, and when and how they are likely to evolve, is key to mitigating the threat to employees.

Relevant Sustainable Development Goals by 2030

Target 2 “Eliminate all forms of violence against all women and girls in the public and private spheres, including trafficking and sexual and other types of exploitation”

Target 2 “End abuse, exploitation, trafficking and all forms of violence against and torture of children”

In 2015, at least 10,000 unaccompanied migrant children have been reported missing within hours of being registered.

In India a child goes missing every 8 minutes. In 2016, an estimated total of missing children was 111, 569.

In Europe, only 2-5% of missing children cases reported involve third party criminal abductions.

In the European Union, a child is reported missing every 2 minutes.

Boko Haram (Nigeria) has used 105+ abducted women and girls in suicide attacks since June 2014.

It is estimated that at least 8 million children worldwide go missing each year.

A Global Study on Children Deprived of Liberty

To address this situation, the United Nations (UN) General Assembly, by resolution 69/157, invited the UN Secretary-General to commission an in-depth global study on children deprived of liberty. On 25 October 2016, the Secretary General welcomed the selection of Manfred Nowak as independent expert to lead the new global study on the situation of children deprived of liberty. By resolution 71/177 the General Assembly invited the independent expert to submit a final report at its seventy-third session in September 2018.2

Target 3

“Promote the rule of law at the national and international levels and ensure equal access to justice for all”

---

More than 1 million child worldwide are deprived of their liberty by law enforcement officials.5

Unqualified and poorly trained and remunerated staff are recognized as a key factor linked to violence within institutions.7
General Ideas for Action!

1. Support and promote
The Global Study on Children Deprived of Liberty http://www.childrendeprivedofliberty.info

2. Promote legislation that includes legal safeguards to protect the child’s best interests; the child’s right to freedom from violence and discrimination; to free and safe participation in proceedings, and to legal and other relevant assistance

3. Emphasize the necessity to improve prevention of offenses and contribute to the creation of structures, tools and

The world is waiting for our decision and contributions to end violence against children and youth by 2030 - an idea whose time has come.
CALL TO ACTION 2018: Commemorate the World Day — 19 November

WE ENCOURAGE CONTRIBUTIONS TO END VIOLENCE AGAINST CHILDREN AND YOUTH in support of the realization of the UN Sustainable Development Goals - Agenda 2030. We take this opportunity of sharing with all activists working for a world fit for children our campaign poster 2018, which many partners around the world already commemorate and support.

In 2016, we have connected the 19 November World Day with the UN Sustainable Development Goal Target #16.2 «End abuse, exploitation, trafficking, and all forms of violence and torture of children», and with the Universal Children’s Day — 20 November to speed up local, national and international action and relevant events for better prevention of violence against children and youth.

We invite you to use the attached poster, add your name, logo and program of action on the topic you wish to focus on to increase transformational disruptions of the status quo. With every 5 minutes a child dying as a result of violence around the world, we need to mobilize not only governments, but also all citizens to commit to the full implementation of children’s right to dignity and non-violence.

For those of you who are new to the 19 November World Day, please note that the Swiss Foundation WWSF inaugurated the Day in the year 2000 with endorsements from around the world, including from Kofi Annan, Paulo Sergio Pinheiro, Desmond Tutu, Her Majesty Queen Rania of Jordan, Jean Zermatten and Prof. Yang-hee Lee, both former chairs of the UN Committee on the Rights of the Child; Marta Santos Pais, Special Representative of the UN Secretary General on violence against children; Najat Maalla M'jid, former UN Special Rapporteur on the sale of children, child prostitution and child pornography, to mention some of them.

You are free to use the poster (without modification of the logos) adding your program for action on both days. We propose to use information and topics from the annual campaign Kit “19 Days of activism for the elimination of violence against children and youth 1-19 November”, with 19 themes and ideas for action. APPEL À L’ACTION 2018 : Commémorez la Journée Mondiale pour l’élimination de la violence envers les enfants et les jeunes 19 novembre

NOUS ENCOURAGEONS DES CONTRIBUTIONS POUR METTRE FIN À LA VIOLENCE ENVERS LES ENFANTS ET LES JEUNES afin d’appuyer la réalisation des Objectifs de Développement Durables (ODD) Agenda 2030. Nous profitons de cette occasion pour partager avec vous et tous les activistes travaillant pour un monde digne des enfants, notre affiche 2018 pour cette occasion.

Depuis 2016, nous lisons la Journée 19 novembre avec les Objectifs de Développement Durables (ODD) #16.2 «Mettre fin aux abus, à l’exploitation, au trafic et à toutes les formes de violence et de torture contre les enfants», ainsi qu’avec la Journée universelle des enfants - 20 novembre pour accélérer les activités locales, nationales et internationales visant à garantir l’élimination de la violence et des abus envers les enfants et les jeunes dans le monde d’ici 2030.

Nous vous invitons à utiliser l’affiche, à ajouter votre nom, logo et programme d’action sur le sujet de votre choix pour accélérer les transformations urgentes nécessaires au status quo. Avec un enfant qui meurt des suites de la violence toutes les cinq minutes dans le monde, nous devons non seulement mobiliser les gouvernements, mais tous les citoyens pour qu’ils respectent les droits des enfants à la dignité et à la non-violence.

Pour ceux d’entre vous qui sont nouveaux à notre campagne, veuillez noter que la création de cette journée par la Fondation suisse WWSF a eu lieu en 2000, avec les soutiens reçus notamment de Kofi Annan, Paulo Sergio Pinheiro, Desmond Tutu et Sa Majesté la Reine Rania de Jordanie, Jean Zermatten et le professeur Yang-hee Lee, anciens présidents du Comité des droits de l’enfant des Nations Unies; Marta Santos Pais, Représentante spéciale du Secrétaire général de l’ONU contre les violences faits aux enfants; Najat Maalla M’jid, ancienne Rapporteur spéciale de l’ONU sur la vente d’enfants, la prostitution des enfants et la pornographie mettant en scène des enfants, parmi d’autres.

What is the Global Partnership?

Global Partnership to End Violence Against Children The Global Partnership to End Violence Against Children is an unprecedented development in international advocacy. It comprises national governments, civil society organisations, philanthropic foundations and individual actors, including the Pathfinding Countries, which are dedicated to spearheading policies and programs aimed at ending violence against children.

End Violence Solutions Summit 2018

The first Agenda 2030 for Children: “End Violence Solutions Summit” took place in Stockholm, Sweden, in February 2018, to share solutions for preventing and responding to violence against children. UN Deputy Secretary General, Amina J. Mohammed, highlighted the extent of corporal punishment of children worldwide in her opening address, and a workshop was held during the Summit highlighting the need to prohibit and eliminate all corporal punishment of children.

What is the Solutions Summit

It’s a crucial meeting in our common responsibility to combat violence against children. It brings together, every two years, governments, the UN, civil society, the private sector, academics and children themselves to design and share bold solutions for preventing and responding to violence against boys and girls. The first End Violence Solutions Summit took place in Stockholm.

Why a Summit?

In 2015, world leaders acknowledged the severity of epidemic levels of violence against children and committed to end all forms of violence and exploitation of children by 2030 as part the Sustainable Development Goals in Agenda 2030. The Summit is a major milestone towards achieving that commitment.

Agenda 2030 for Children:

End Violence Solutions Summit

14-15 February 2018 | Stockholm, Sweden

(under the auspices of the Government Offices of Sweden, End Violence Against Children – Global Partnership – We PROTECT Global Alliance – end sexual exploitation online)

PROCLAMATION

“No violence against children is justifiable; all violence against children is preventable.”

– 2006 UN Secretary General’s Study on Violence Against Children

‘As partners from all sectors of society and all parts of the world, we have gathered here in Stockholm to share and advance our work to end violence against children. At the heart of this work are rights enshrined in the Convention on the Rights of the Child and renewed global commitments of Agenda 2030 and the Sustainable Development Goals. In target 16.2 and associated targets of Agenda 2030 all countries commit to end all forms of violence against children by the year 2030. The right to grow up free from violence has been placed at the centre of our political agenda.

We have listened to the voices of the children as equal members of our society. We have been moved by their power, vision and demands of us, the adult world, to act and do more. They and we know there are solutions. These solutions are achievable, evidence-based and highly cost-effective. There is no excuse not to act.

Violence affects hundreds of millions of children, girls and boys, every year, but its impacts are largely ignored. Every five minutes a child dies from violence, while many more suffer physical and psychological harm. The damage is long lasting.
The Summit aimed to inspire a global, national and local movement to protect children from violence. We have focused on finding and promoting ways to increase collaboration across sectors. We have recognized the complex and interdependent causes of violence against both women and children. We have cast a light on the role of boys and men in shaping a non-violent future for all children.

We recognize that it is never too late to help a child who has been hurt by violence – and that responding to the needs of survivors of violence is central to any prevention strategy. We must redouble efforts to protect children online, address violence in their every-day lives, and prevent violence against those and escaping facing conflict and crisis.

This Summit underscores the importance of shifting our focus towards prevention. The more we prevent violence, the less we must respond to. Solutions presented at this Summit point to an emerging consensus that we need a systematic holistic approach well defined in INSPIRE, the seven strategies that together provide a framework for ending violence against children. Implementation and enforcement of laws, Norms and values, Safe environments, Parent and caregiver support, Income and economic strengthening, Response and support services, Education and life skills. INSPIRE and the Model National Response, developed by the WePROTECT Global Alliance, work hand in hand – they are part of a larger vision to end all forms of violence against children.

The Summit has celebrated the commitment of pathfinder countries whose leadership is at the core of the Global Partnership to End Violence Against Children. It is important that they continue to demonstrate significant, sustained and measurable reductions in violence. We call on more countries to become pathfinders, learn from each other’s successes and hold each other accountable for delivering results that change children's lives.

We now return to our home countries with five overarching conclusions. Building on children's rightful demands, the global community needs to:

1. Demonstrate leadership at the most senior levels of governments, international organizations, civil society, faith groups, and the private sector to take action, engage more countries to join the Global Partnership to End Violence Against Children as pathfinders and improve cooperation and coordination between different actors and policy areas

2. Increase knowledge on how to prevent, detect and treat violence against children, girls and boys, and accelerate implementation of evidence-based strategies to end violence against children. INSPIRE strategies is a guide.

3. Develop and share solutions and best practices to defend the safety, integrity and dignity of every child, in every setting, including in the cyberspace.

4. Invest more resources to prevent and respond to violence, from all relevant sources (national budgets, development cooperation, etc.) including through the Fund to End Violence Against Children as a vehicle to support solutions and innovation.

5. Place all children – and especially those most vulnerable at the centre of Agenda 2030 and its progress review at the High-level Political Forum in 2019. Their Heads of State and Government will meet for the first time to review progress on the 2030 Agenda for Sustainable Development. Let them make the children of the world a priority.

We express our heartfelt thanks to the government of Sweden the municipality of Stockholm for warmly and efficiently hosting this historic Summit. This event will be remembered as the first bi-annual gathering of children, leaders and experts who together will put an end to a global epidemic of violence; a massive undertaking but a very achievable one – an undertaking of the kind rewarded and celebrated in this city."

Dear Coalition Members,

We appeal to you to consider as of this year to involve young people in all your events and empower them to become champions for change in your communities to help create a world free of violence against children and youth and realize the relevant Sustainable Development Goals, in particular Target 16.2.

What young people can do:

• Organize and participate in activities such as discussion forums, demonstrations, signing petitions, workshops and volunteer at local youth organizations
• Request that your school offers prevention of child/youth abuse programs
• Engage in debates about how to prevent bullying and other forms of child violence
• Get involved to make school safer and create initiatives such as poster contests against violence
• Always include others in sports and games regardless of their gender, size, handicap, etc.
• Speak up if you see, hear, or experience something that makes you uncomfortable
• Set a good example for younger children and assist them if they are in danger
• Never go anywhere with someone you and your parents do not know and trust
• Know where to report an incident
• Understand your rights as a child/young adult
• Settle arguments with words, not fists or weapons
• Write down and share your feelings with friends or adults
• Understand that the battlefield is not a place for young people and do not think of war as a game
• Learn basic internet safety

Look out for the 2018 Youth Solutions Report coming out on 16 July 2018

"To achieve the SDGs, we need innovative technologies and programs targeted at key priorities, including health, education, power, connectivity, agriculture, and environmental protection. The Youth Solutions Report is an ambitious and invaluable initiative to showcase and disseminate youth led projects that offer SDG breakthroughs."

Ideas to plan your activities and events

CHOOSING AN ISSUE
Once you have chosen the issue(s) that interest you, do further research. Consult our list of resources and the WWSF Guide “Prevention is Key” online. Most importantly, before campaigning ask yourself questions such as:

- What sparked your interest in the 19 Days Campaign?
- What type of abuse(s) or violence do children in your community usually face?
- What are the laws in your country protecting children against any type of abuse or violence presented in the 19 Days Prevention Kit?
- Are there organizations in your country or community involved in the 19 Days Campaign? Use this as an opportunity to collaborate in creating action. It is in collaboration with these networks that you can increase your mobilization efforts and catalyze social change.

PLANNING
Once you have made your choices, you can start planning an activity or an event on a particular day (or on several days in November). We encourage you to be creative and bold in your approach. Your activities can take various forms. You should take this opportunity to build links and reach a maximum number of people. Remember that the object is for you to convey your message within your community. Below is a list of ideas, some of which are from activities organized by WWSF coalition partners over the past 10 years.

1. Raise awareness
   - Increase public consciousness and education about the why, what, and how about prevention and protection measures concerning abuse and violence
   - Download the 19 Days Campaign logo, banner and poster (see below) from the website
   - Build links through outreach programs, presentations, conferences, seminars, articles, books, media presentations, plays, marches, social networks, etc.
   - Create banners, art, sketches, songs, talks; bring them to be displayed in schools and youth centers
   - Prepare TV and radio spots or use the WWSF TV spot available online
   - Implement safety rules in schools
   - Organize information caravans in rural areas
   - Translate the Prevention Kit into your national language and distribute it (contact WWSF for guidelines)
   - Recreate/distribute the “WWSF Yellow Ribbon Campaign” to promote prevention

2. E-activism
   - Introduce young people from your community/country to the website www.YouthEngage.com
   - Empower young people to become prevention actors and write a blog

3. Build skills
   - Train parents to respect the opinions of their children
   - Train children in good prevention measures, and make sure they know who to turn to or call in case of problems
   - Introduce a ‘Code of Ethics’ with guidelines for prevention of abuse and violence against children and young people

4. Honor and involve new partners
   - Become a candidate for the annual WWSF Prize for Prevention of Child Abuse by submitting your activity report at the end of the 19 Days Campaign from which the laureate organizations will be selected
   - Involve the police and local authorities in your activity

5. Fundraise
   - Organize a lottery, a show, or a gala dinner and transfer the benefits to a local NGO or charity working for prevention, or to help end a particular type of abuse

6. Organize concerts
   - Involve famous local singers and artists and encourage them to support your cause
   - Invite other groups to join you in publicizing your initiative and make it effective
   - Invite famous local singers and artists and encourage them to support your cause

7. Organize a Circle of Compassion
   - It takes compassion to end violence against children and youth. For more information, see Page 71

8. Political activities
   - Hold your leaders accountable and lobby your government to ratify the Optional Protocols if they have not yet done so and to take all necessary measures for full implementation
   - Launch a “Walk the Talk campaign” and regularly remind leaders to implement their promises made at numerous UN international conferences and national sessions
   - Organize youth meetings with government members
   - Implement new laws and prevention programs at the grass-roots level
   - Learn lobby techniques and distribute information to state- and non-state actors
   - Raise public and media awareness so that others join your initiative or launch a campaign of their own.

WWSF Call to Action! SDG #16.2
WWSF Children / Youth Section

Convener: Women’s World Summit Foundation / Children-Youth Section - wdpca@wwsf.ch - www.woman.ch
WWSF Proposal for ’19 Days—Youth Prize’

Reminder: Call for Young Leaders to Stand up and become Champions for Change

The WWSF Children-Youth section proposes to registered active coalition members to launch, with its local/national Call to Action, a nomination process for the 19 Days—Youth Prize, honoring young actors (boys and girls, aged 18-25) for their prevention and protection services of violence against children and young people during the 19 Days of activism campaign 1-19 November.

Notice to active WWSF coalition members: WWSF is pleased to present this idea to increase the number of young change makers who impact their community with their service. We propose that you launch a national nomination process to identify youth prevention actors for the establishment of your national 19 Days—Youth Prize to be awarded. To start, we suggest you put in place a national Prize committee to help prepare a program for such awards and select young actors (aged 15 to 24) who organize and lead concrete action in the field of violence prevention and protection of children’s rights during the 19 Days of activism campaign 1-19 November, in your country.

We propose the following steps

a) Register online for the 19 Days of activism campaign and send WWSF a written confirmation of your interest in creating a national 19 Days—Youth Prize. We also propose that you get in touch with other organizations in your country that share your values and interest (min. 3) and create a National Prize committee for the development of the nomination and selection criteria of candidates for the Prize.

b) Inform your members and partners of your plan and begin to look for committed candidates, eligible for selection as an award winner of your national 19 Days—Youth Prize.

c) Evaluate the candidates and select one, two or more winners for the first 19 Days—Youth Prize in your country after evaluating their concrete participation in the 19 Days of activism. National awards may be monetary or honorary, according to the decision of your national committee and your own financial means. The desired impact of youth action must demonstrate behavior change, prevention of violence and reduction of abuse in your community and/or country, which should be described in the presentation of your prizewinners.

On 19 November WWSF is exploring the possibility of honoring one or several of the most exceptional national Youth Prize winners with an international award, which will include a monetary prize (amount to be determined) and be presented at a possible award ceremony held at the United Nations in Geneva on 19 November - World Day for Prevention of violence against children and youth.

As organizer of the 19 Days of Activism campaign and partner of the 19 Day prize initiative WWSF proposes to include in the description of your national prize program the text «in partnership with the WWSF- International 19 Days of activism campaign» to give your national Prize an international dimension and for WWSF to register you as its partner when announcing your national winners to the international press and publicize them on our websites, Facebook and Twitter. The logo of the 19 Days—Youth Prize will be made available to interested and registered partners of the Youth Prize proposal to ensure cohesion and originality of the project, both nationally and internationally.

International convener: WWSF - Women’s World Summit Foundation – Children/Youth section, POBox, 5490, 1211 Geneva 11, Switzerland, an international solidarity empowerment network with a mission to help advance women’s and children’s rights via its annual programs, campaigns, world days and prize awards.

http://19days.woman.ch WWSF has consultative status to the United Nations (ECOSOC, UNFPA, DPI).

If you are interested, send us a message to wdpca@wwsf.ch (ref. 19 Days—Youth Prize) together with a brief summary of your interest to participate in this project. WWSF will then remain in contact with you throughout the process. Together we can empower and support young change makers and important actors for the creation of a future without violence in your country and around the world.

Advertising your event(s)

Once you have planned your activity, you need to advertise it in order to reach a maximum number of people and to run a successful campaign.

How to advertise

Here are some ideas:

- Email your network and ask your contacts to forward your email within their own networks
- Use religious channels or faith-based groups to increase awareness; ask them to pass the message on to their congregations
- Use social networks; remember Facebook or Twitter can enable you to mobilize a large number of people in a short amount of time
- Hand out leaflets, flyers, stickers, etc.
- Hang posters across your neighborhood/city
- Create a YouTube video and broadcast it
- Broadcast your event on the radio or television
- Send out press releases, articles, newsletters

Most importantly, remember to keep your message clear and simple to ensure a greater impact.

Relations with the Media

Learning how to mobilize the media can be a difficult task. Here are some suggestions:

When to contact the Media

Designate one or two people from your organization or group to talk to the media on your behalf. They must express themselves clearly and understand the objectives of your event/activity.

Your spokespersons are only authorized to speak on behalf of your organization/group, not on behalf of WWSF. When they are speaking to the media in their position as spokespersons, they must only express the views and aims of your own “19 Days of Activism Campaign.”

From time-to-time, contact journalists to let them know what is happening. Tell them you have heard that in other cities, local papers or radio/TV stations are putting out special reports at the beginning of the 19 Days of Activism.

Organize a press conference

In larger cities, you might set up a press conference for the local media a day or two before your event/activity. Try to involve one or two well-known local personalities in order to give the press conference additional credibility and a higher profile. Make sure that they are familiar with the “19 Days of Activism for Prevention of Abuse and Violence Against Children and Youth.”

Contact the local media two or three days beforehand with a press release announcing the press conference or event. Send them a reminder the day before or on the morning of the conference. The best times for press conferences are between 10:00 AM and midday – so that they have time to prepare an item for that evening’s news or write-ups for the following day.

Have a moderator to introduce the people on the press panel. Start with brief statements by each person. Then open up the floor for questions for a half-hour or so. Pass around a sign-up sheet so that you can contact the people again.

If possible, please send us copies of press articles related to your activities so that we better understand the local/national impact of your campaign.
Cont’d. Advertising your event(s)

How to answer media questions
Where possible, give very short and concise answers, especially for radio and TV. Talk slowly, especially if someone is taking notes. Sharing how the issue resonates with you on a personal level can have a strong impact on your message. Remember that personal examples are appreciated.

Make sure that if you are talking about someone else, you have his/her permission. When you speak on behalf of the 19 Days of Activism Campaign, avoid giving your personal opinion in order not to modify the essence of the international campaign.

If a journalist asks you about your personal opinion, you can present your ideas by nuancing them. If he/she insists and you are not sure about the answer to a question, be firm and do not answer it. Don’t get drawn into arguments. A reporter might use an argument to get you to say things you wouldn’t particularly want to say.

There’s no harm pausing to compose your thoughts. You do not have to answer a question if you do not want to. Make sure you get in the points you want to make. Avoid sarcasm, irony, or jokes that could be misconstrued if taken out of context.

As your initiatives move forward, a growing grass-roots interest can be expected to attract the attention of media people. Journalists, editors, T.V. and radio commentators will begin to include you in their coverage of various issues. The involvement of the media will provide important, complementary input into raising public awareness and encouraging mobilization.

Fundraising
We also encourage you to raise funds for your local project(s). To do so you can, for example, ask for non-monetary donations, e.g. persuade local newspapers to print free ads and radio and TV stations to run free public-service announcements. You can also organize events such as concerts, gala dinners, art auctions, etc. to raise funds.

Try to keep your own expenses as low as possible. If you need an office or workspace, find a local group to donate space and find businesses or groups to donate furniture and basic office supplies.

Keep track of funds
You must be transparent and vigilant. If you are a sub-committee of an existing organization (school board, a business, etc.), then ensure that it verifies the money you receive and spend, and keeps records of all transactions.

19 Days Activity Report Guidelines for 2018

In order to learn more about the activities of coalition members, and to share the impact of your prevention work, WWSF kindly asks that each registered, active member organization submit an Activity Report via email to wdpca@wwsf.ch (deadline: 15.01.2018).

WWSF will include a summary of your activities in the 19 Days Global Impact Report 2018 and publish it online together with selected photos, videos, and press releases. These materials may also be shared via other outlets to increase awareness of your innovations.

REMINDER: The 19 Days Campaign Activity Report will be the basis for WWSF to select the 2018 Laureate organizations for the Annual Prize for Innovative Prevention measures. To date, 55 coalition organizations have been awarded and honored with the WWSF prize. All Laureate organizations are published on the Internet and receive a certificate and monetary award. Link: http://19days.woman.ch/index.php/en/prize-for-prevention

Please be sure to address the following points in your 2018 report

• Name of organization (and acronym), city and country, telephone number, email address, website (if applicable)

• What theme/s you selected (amongst the 19 campaign themes), and the relevance of the chosen theme/s in your community

• What type of activities you organized (i.e. social media campaigns, press conferences, trainings and seminars, awareness-raising sessions, public events, film screenings, etc.)

• Description of activities (max. 1 page)

• What campaign materials were used and disseminated, and how you advertised your events

• The estimated number of people reached by your activities

• Collaboration/participation with other civil society organizations/NGOs, youth clubs, schools, UN agencies, business partners, government officials, media, etc.)

• The impact of your activities in your community and towards preventing violence against children and youth in your target area

Additional information you may wish to send
We thank you in advance for sending to wdpca@wwsf.ch selected event photos, links to and copies of media coverage, event websites and declarations, videos and TV spots produced, and campaign/promotional materials you created for your campaign, which we will share via our network, including Facebook and Twitter after our selection process.
Recipients of the 2017 WWSF Prize for Innovative Prevention Initiatives (selected from 2017 activity reports received)

1) WWSF Prize US$ 1000
Network Movement for Youth and Children’s Welfare

(NMYCW-SL) Sierra Leone - West Africa

Excerpt:
NMYCW-SL 19 Days campaign participants of their Stakeholders Follow-up Dialogue Forum in 2017, focused on the theme « to advocate against the use of substance and abuse towards children and youth during electoral events » (campaign theme 15). A full report is available in the 2017 Global Impact Report, published online www.woman.ch - CONGRATULATION!

2) WWSF Prize US$ 1000
«Verein Hol dir Hilfe», Biersfelden, Switzerland

A full report is published in our 2017 Global Impact Report. This is the first time a group in the German-speaking part of Switzerland organized a street presentation catching the attention of the public with the clutter of wooden spoons, yodel and campaign banners to draw attention on street corners. People commented that they consider the 19 Days campaign information very important because there is still too little information about where children and adolescents affected by violence and abuse can get help. On their website they give information in 9 languages, link: holdirhilfe.ch - CONGRATULATIONS!
It takes compassion to end violence against children and youth

We need as a human family to move into greater compassion and firm resolution to reach out and join the change-makers and world servers around the world in order to realize the Sustainable Development Goals in general, and the SDG Target 16.2 by 2030 in particular: “End abuse, exploitation, trafficking, and all forms of violence against and torture of children.”

WWSF therefore invite you, your family and networks to consider marking 2 November - World Day for Circles of Compassion by creating your community circle with family, friends, colleagues and partners to discuss and help implement strong prevention measures of violence against children and youth for the protection of their right to dignity and safety. We all have a role to play and Circles of compassion can speed up the creation of a world free of violence and abuse against children and youth. Join the conversation!

For those of you who are new to the power of community circles and wish to create a Circle of compassion to find your contribution for ending violence against children, we share with you the basic guidelines to help you get started.

How to create a Circle:

• Invite friends and partners; make a sacred center space in the circle - a space where you can put photos of children, flowers, candles, whatever your culture uses to celebrate a special time of relationships to focus on needs of humanity
• Begin with a period of silent reflection
• One person speaks at a time
• Speak from the heart and from your own experience
• Listen for wisdom with compassion and with discernment instead of judgment
• Invite silence and reflection, when needed, in you and in the Circle
• Take responsibility for your experience and your impact on the Circle
• Make decisions, whenever possible, by consensus
• Encourage and welcome diverse points of view
• Agree to hold the tension, instead of rushing in to fix things
• Keep the confidence of the Circle; respect the trust relationship that what is shared remains in the circle
• Feel free to add other guidelines should Circle members find it useful to do so

Information about guidelines and principles for creating and maintaining a circle of compassion is available upon request wdpc(a)wwsf.ch

Every Circle of compassion is autonomous in its function. The only request is (which is implicit when adopting the name ‘Circle of Compassion’) to respect the guidelines mentioned above, as well as the vision and the objectives, which gave birth to them – creating a world that works for all - leaving no one behind. The building of a world expressing more compassion is one of the conditions for our survival and everyone can play a vital role in creating a compassionate society.

WWSF would appreciate learning about your participation in creating a Circle of Compassion (on 2 November or whatever date is convenient to you) and invites you to register your Circle as an initiative online for all to be inspired and learn from your example. “A human being is a part of the whole called by us universe, a part limited in time and space. He/she experiences him/herself, his/her thoughts and feeling as something separated from the rest, a kind of optical delusion of his/her consciousness. This delusion is a kind of prison for us, restricting us to our personal desires and to affection for a few persons nearest to us. Our task must be to free ourselves from this prison by widening our circle of compassion to embrace all living creatures and the whole of nature in its beauty.” - Albert Einstein
Dear friends,

This year’s Human Rights Day (10 December) will launch a year-long campaign to mark the 70th anniversary of the Universal Declaration of Human Rights (UDHR). Adopted by the UN General Assembly on 10 December 1948, the UDHR is a milestone document in the history of human rights, proclaiming for the first time the inalienable rights to which everyone—regardless of race, colour, religion, sex, language, political or other opinion, national or social origin, property, birth or other status—is inherently entitled as a human being. It is the most translated document in the world, currently available in 504 languages.

The upcoming 70th anniversary is an opportunity to reaffirm the universal values and enduring principles enshrined in the Declaration, mobilize people around the world, and take stock of human rights today.

The anniversary campaign, which builds on the #StandUp4HumanRights call to action launched last December, aims to promote, engage and reflect:

1. Promote the rights enshrined in the Declaration and what the UDHR means in our daily lives;
2. Engage broad audiences across the world and mobilize people for human rights;
3. Reflect on progress and challenges, and ways that each of us can stand up for human rights.

The attached document provides an overview of the activities and events we are planning, the materials we will make available and suggestions for how you can get involved. Please don’t hesitate to get in touch, I look forward to hearing from you!

Sincerely,

National Institutions, Regional Mechanisms and Civil Society Section Office of the High Commissioner for Human Rights
